John Maeras, 56, dies

John Maeras, 56, of 1608 Elizabeth St., Madison, former Madison County sheriff and treasurer and a public servant most of his life, died at 8:15 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 12, at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, ending a four-year battle with cancer.

Maeras served the public in numerous positions from the mid 1940s through 1978, when he retired from the sheriff's post under a cloud of controversy and facing a federal prison sentence on a federal racketeering conviction.

Through it all, Maeras retained numerous faithful friends throughout the Quad-City area and the county. A large funeral was predicted for this morning.

Madison County Sheriff Emil Toffant, also of Madison, has ordered that the flag at the Madison County Jail at Edwardsville be lowered to half-staff in Maeras' memory.

Maeras suffered an attack of illness at home and was rushed by ambulance to the medical center, where he died in the emergency room at 8:15 p.m. He was in the company of his wife and other family members, it was reported.

Maeras' career ended with illness and in controversy as a federal jury in Alton found him guilty of 23 counts of federal racketeering Feb. 25, 1979, following three weeks of trial during which more than 60 witnesses testified. He and his former chief of field operations, John Cooper of Granite City, were found guilty of mail and wire fraud, participating in a racketeer-influenced and corrupt organization (RICO), for allegedly taking kickbacks for county towing jobs and from taverns and houses of prostitution and for allegedly misusing funds raised by the former Madison County Deputy Sheriffs' Association.

After their appeals were upheld by the U.S. Appeals Court in Chicago and the U.S. Supreme Court refused to hear a final appeal, they were sentenced to serve 15 years in federal prison by District Judge J. Waldo Ackerman. Also sentenced to a three-year prison term was Leland Stoller of Nashville, Tenn., husband of popular country singer Crissy Lane. Stoller was the chief fund raiser for the deputies' association and allegedly assisted in the misappropriation of funds raised by it for charity through dances, advertising books and other activities.

Maeras' cancer kept him from having to serve his prison sentence. Judge Ackerman ruled that he could not receive adequate medical care in prison and early this year, the judge waived serving of sentence for the former sheriff.

The federal court actions overshadowed a life of service Maeras gave to his country, his county and his city, friends say.

He was a lifelong resident of Madison and graduated from the public schools there in 1944. From 1944 through 1956, he served in the U.S. Marine Corps, protecting the Pacific Theater during World War II and saw action at Iwojima. He rose in rank from private to corporal during his service, the latter years in the reserves.

Dr. Zevallos and wife disappear mysteriously

Madison County sheriff's deputies say they have no firm leads to explain the mysterious disappearance of a local doctor and his wife from their home on the bluffs "under suspicious circumstances" Thursday night or early Friday.

Dr. Hector Zevallos, 53, and his wife, Rosalie Jean, 45, were the targets of a large search involving dogs and patrols Friday and a St. Louis County Police helicopter Saturday around their home at 24 Camelot Drive in Country Club Estates, an exclusive development of expensive homes on the bluffs between Sunset Hills Country Club and the south entrance drive to Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Dr. Zevallos, a gynecologist, operates Hope Clinic for Women, Ltd., 1602 Twenty-first St., across from the emergency room entrance of St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where Dr. Zevallos is a member of the medical staff. The clinic has been in the news many times as anti-abortion protesters picketed it and an anti-abortion priest has been arrested several times for trespassing and attempting to interfere with the clinic's operations.

The St. Louis Globe Democrat quotes the priest, the Rev. Edwin Arensen of Addicks, Ill., as saying that he could have harmed Dr. Zevallos years ago, but never intended to. "God does not want the death of a sinner, but that he be converted and live."

Lt. Robert Hertz, chief of detectives for the Madison County Sheriff's Department, says that Rev. Arensen is not a suspect, but added, "Based on his past record at the clinic, he deserves to be looked at more than you or I do."

Madison County Sheriff Emil Toffant told the Press-Record this morning, "We haven't got anything. It's a strange one. He (Dr. Zevallos) has got a lot of enemies."

Lt. Hertz said this morning, "Something is definitely wrong. It wouldn't surprise me any if the doctor and his wife are dead. They have been gone too long."

The man who first alerted Madison County sheriff's deputies of the situation, a neighbor who asked not to be named, told the Press-Record that his wife received a phone call Thursday morning from Dr. Zevallos' office, inquiring whether neighbors knew why he had not come to work and was not answering the telephone at home. (Hertz said he believes the neighbor is mistaken about the day, since deputies were notified at 10 a.m. Friday.)

The woman, afraid to investigate, called her husband. He went to the house and rang the doorbell about 9:30 a.m. Thursday, but received no answer, he reported. He looked in the garage, saw the couple's two Mercedes-Benz automobiles there and then notified deputies.

The neighbor declined to answer questions whether he found the door unlocked or what was in the house, but sheriff's deputies say a door was unlocked when they investigated.

A bowl of popcorn was in the family room near the television set, which was on, as were the lights, they said. There were no signs of a break-in, struggle or theft from the home and other items of value were left in plain sight, Lt. Hertz said. Mrs. Zevallos' jewelry remained undisturbed, he confirmed. The couple was not known to have received any threats.

The doctor's suitcase was found half packed, Hertz said. Dr. Zevallos planned to leave Saturday for a professional seminar out of state.

Hertz said he is sure the doctor was safe Thursday night, because Dr. Zevallos talked to a business associate by phone that evening and there was no hint of trouble.

Dr. Zevallos' telephone ledgers were taken by deputies to aid in contacting friends and attempting to derive more

City finance committee sets tentative $2.6 million levy

By GEORGEANN MCGEE of the Press-Record

The second public meeting in the decision-making process to set Granite City's levy, which determines property taxes, held at city hall was a roller coaster session of sharp cuts and rapid budget shifts intended to keep tax rates down.

When the meeting concluded an hour and a half later, the city's aldermanic finance committee had settled for a tentative $2.6 million levy, almost identical to the levy set last year.

Bolstering that levy this year is a five percent tax on telephone bills — expected soon to extend to cable users — and a 4-cent sales tax, bringing in over a million dollars in extra revenue.

"It sounds more realistic than before," Mayor Paul Schuler said.

Last week, Granite City's controller provided information to the council that showed a $4.1 million levy will be needed if the council next year wants to catch up on a projected deficit budget, to fully fund police and fire pensions, to provide for some sort of employee pay increase (excluding wastewater treatment plant workers) and to prepare for utility rate and garbage contract increases, among other anticipated expenses.

The city's new finance committee chairman alderman Walter Milton, sixth ward, said he had to consider the city's general economic condition and the local 18.7 percent local unemployment rate, before sending his committee's levy recommendation to the council.

Governors ask for longer benefits for unemployed

Governor James H. Thompson has called for urgent Congressional action Monday to provide thousands of jobless workers in Illinois and throughout the nation with extended unemployment benefits.

At the National Governors' Association conference in Afton, Okla., the governor was joined by seven other governors in his letter to Senator Robert Dole of Kansas and Rep. Dan Rostenkowski of Illinois in calling for the emergency legislation.

Thompson has been strongly lobbying Congress and President Reagan to change federal law to provide relief for thousands of Illinoisans who have or are about to exhaust their unemployment insurance benefits.

In the letter to Dole, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, and Rostenkowski, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, the governors said:

"We are writing to call to your attention an urgent problem in our states with respect to unemployment insurance and to ask for your understanding and support. 'Thousands of the jobless receiving benefits are in immediate danger of losing this critical financial support. Changes in federal law made last year have precipitated this unfortunate and inequitable situation. In particular, we are affected by amendments made by the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1981 which have prevented this continuation of unemployment benefits to thousands of jobless workers."

"The national economic recovery is slower than an-icipated. We know the return to work always lags behind an upturn in the economy. Enacting Unemployment Insurance legislative changes now can provide a transition for the unemployed which is essential to their economic well-being. The current policy of the National Governors' Association recognizes the unemployment insurance system as the first line of defense against economic downturn. The policy also calls for a federal supplement to the current unemployment insurance system to assist long-term jobless workers. We encourage your support for such a supplemental program."

"Over the past year, the gap has been widening between the number of unemployed and the number of jobless covered under Unemployment Insurance. Without quick legislative action this gap will widen further."

"We believe there is a need for urgent Congressional action to address this problem. We urge you to give it special consideration."

Under the current unemployment benefits program, jobless persons who qualify receive 26 weeks of unemployment benefits with payments supported by employer taxes. Persons collect these benefits while searching for another job or awaiting recall by their employer.

Extended benefits are an extra 13 weeks of payment to qualified persons for a total of 39 weeks of support. The program is designed to operate in periods of extended high unemployment, when regular benefits of 26 weeks are insufficient.

If Congress and the president approve of a new formula and the additional benefits period supported by the governors, extended benefits would be available for an additional 13 weeks, up to a total of 52 weeks of unemployment insurance. Signing the telegram with Governor Thompson were Governor Frank White, Arkansas; Governor Robert Orr, Indiana; Governor Christopher Bond, Missouri; Governor William Winter, Mississippi; and Governor Lee Sherman Dreyfus, Wisconsin.

Governor Thompson also sponsored a resolution adopted by the NGA Executive Committee that says:

"The NGA believes that in a time of high unemployment, a mechanism must be in place to assist jobless workers in meeting basic needs for food and shelter."

"The governors wish to reiterate to the Congress and the administration the current NGA policy on unemployment insurance—Benefits should be paid for up to 39 weeks when economic conditions warrant extended claim duration."

Income maintenance for individuals unemployed longer than 30 weeks should not be the responsibility of the unemployment insurance program. Retroactive federal general revenue financing of federal supplemental benefits, therefore, is necessary."

"The unemployment insurance system in this nation's first line of defense against economic downturn and requires nationwide coordination and cooperation."

"Given the current severe unemployment affecting the states, we urge this Congress and the administration to act expeditiously to alleviate the effects of such high unemployment on the people of this nation."

In addition, Thompson sent a letter to the President last week urging him to reassess his position on the issue and providing some legislative solutions.

$37,000 grant to Leukemia Society

The McDonnell-Douglas Personal Charity Foundation has committed $37,000 for the next two years to the Leukemia Society for continued research support at Washington University School of Medicine. The pledge, made possible by contributions from the McDonnell-Douglas employees in the St. Louis area, will be applied specifically to a research special fellowship awarded to Dr. Clark Distelhorst by the Leukemia Society of America, Inc. Eighteen Thousand Dollars will be credited to the Metropolitan St. Louis Chapter's 1982 campaign now in progress.

Dr. Distelhorst was chosen to receive the award based on his distinct ability to conduct scientific research which hold the promise of more successful avenues for treatment of the disease.

A native of Columbus, Ohio, Dr. Distelhorst received an M.D. in 1971 and a B.A. degree from Ohio State University in 1968. He had postdoctoral training at Barnes Hospital, St. Louis, and at Yale-New Haven Medical Center. He is currently an assistant professor of pediatrics at Washington University.

The Leukemia Society of America also provides programs of patient aid, public and professional education and community service. The Metropolitan St. Louis Chapter is located at 1612 Big Bend Blvd., St. Louis, Mo. 63117.

Warrants charge stabbing victim

Randy E. Ifland, 21, of 705 Kirkpatrick Homes, was arrested there last week on a warrant alleging parole violation, issued by the Illinois Department of Corrections, and a local warrant charging battery.

Ifland suffered multiple stab wounds to the abdomen, left hand and wrist during an incident taking place July 30 at a residence in the 3300 block of Washington Avenue. He has been confined to St. Elizabeth Medical Center until this week.

After requested to the hospital, headquarters, Ifland requested to go to a hospital because of some bleeding from a chest wound. He was taken to the emergency room, treated and returned to jail.

ISSUE WARRANTS AGAINST YOUTH, 14
Officers responded to a call from Carol Hood, 1751 Walnut St., last week whose home two youths allegedly entered without permission and then refused to leave and began cursing the occupant.

One youth allegedly had a sheathed knife in his possession and reportedly had self-inflicted minor cuts on his arm and stomach.

Initially, the second youth gave officers a false name, but later was found to be from Madison with three warrants outstanding against him in Granite City. The warrants alleged failing to appear and failing to pay on curfew charges and a petit theft charge. He was taken into custody and lodged in the juvenile cell.

Motorist taxes less today than 1972

The average Illinois motorist is paying less today in road repair taxes than he did in 1972. According to information released by the State's Transportation Improvement Council, a Springfield-based coalition of commercial, farm, and manufacturing organizations, automobile-related user taxes and fees paid by the average Illinois motorist have decreased $10 since 1972. During that same period of time, consumer prices rose 59.3 percent.

Tim Hennessey, president of the council, said, "The drop in the average motorist's tax burden is attributable to better automobile fuel economy and road repair taxes and fees that are not inflationary-sensitive. The resultant revenue losses are directly responsible for the poor condition of our state's road and bridge network. Neither the gas tax nor registration fees has risen since 1969. Since that time, the Illinois Construction Price Index has risen 153 percent. Illinois simply can't afford to continue deferring needed repair, resurfacing, and reconstruction of its road and bridges."

The study shows that in 1972, the operator of a Chevrolet Impala, driven 10,000 miles annually, contributed a total of $129 in registration fees, motor fuel, and license taxes. His 1982 counterpart, driving the same distance, paid only $119 annually in taxes and fees. During that same 10-year period, the average retail price of a new Chevrolet Impala rose from $3,700 in 1972 to $9,400 in 1982, an increase of $5,700, or 154 percent.

Hennessey continued, "Further compounding the problem is that the only portion of auto-related taxes that increased during the past 10 years was the sales tax paid on gasoline—and only about 50 percent of that goes to fix Illinois' road and bridge system. The average annual driver cost for registration fees and motor fuel taxes went from $119 in 1972 to $87 in 1982. These are the only portions of the motorist's tax bill dedicated wholly to road-system upkeep."

"Although the motorist's tax bills decreased $10, the savings was lost on increased auto maintenance, decreased fuel economy, and higher accident rates resulting from deteriorating road conditions. These bargain-rate auto taxes are easily lost on the cost of new shocks, tires, or an accident caused by deteriorating roads."

Average annual motorist taxes in Illinois using a Chevrolet Impala four-door sedan as a guideline is as follows: For the year 1972 the annual registration fee was $30 and in 1982 it was $30; the first figure in remaining paragraph is for 1972 and the second is for 1982: motor fuel tax (7.5 cents per gallon) $6 and 37; federal motor fuel tax (4 cents per gallon) $0 and 20; license and local option sales tax on motor fuel (5 percent) $13 and 32, with a total of $129 in 1972 and $119 in 1982. Tax per mile of use—.012 in 1972 and .011 in 1982; estimated miles per gallon, 13.5 and 20.5; price of gasoline per gallon, 36 and 1.30; estimated total cost per mile .16 and .32.

Gaffner challenges opponent's petitions

Twenty-First Congressional District candidate Robert H. Gaffner (R-Greenview) has filed an objection to the nominating petitions of Sandra Climaco, a Republican, who is running for the State Board of Elections office in Springfield.

Mrs. Climaco filed last week as a third-party candidate in the 21st District under the "Bipartisan Good Government Party"—a party she created to comply with state election laws. She previously ran third in the Democratic primary in March, capturing only 4,462 out of more than 40,000 votes cast.

Gaffner said Saturday that Mrs. Climaco is in violation of Chapter 46, Section 10-4 of the Illinois Revised Statutes. The statutes prohibit persons from circulating or certifying nominating petitions "for candidates of more than one political party, or for an independent candidate or candidates of more than one political party, to be voted upon at the next primary or general election."

Mrs. Climaco and husband, Caesar, circulated petitions when Climaco was a candidate for the Democratic nomination before the March primary. Both Climacos also circulated petitions after the primary under the "Bipartisan Good Government Party."

Gaffner claims that all petitions personally circulated by the Climacos are invalid, according to state statutes, thereby disqualifying all signatures on those petitions.

The Climacos filed 427 petitions—with 7,325 signatures. A minimum of 5,000 signatures is required for the third-party candidates to be included on the November ballot. Of the 427 petitions, 197 petitions, containing 3,494 signatures, were circulated by either Caesar or Sandra Climaco.

Thus, Gaffner contends that the Climacos only have 3,831 signatures and therefore do not have enough names to qualify for the November ballot.

"As a congressional candidate, I feel it is my duty to be fully aware of state statutes," said Gaffner. "I felt it was my obligation to personally scrutinize the nominating petitions to insure their legitimacy."

Gaffner further pointed out that Mrs. Climaco first raised questions over the issue of Price's residency in the 21st District. He said he was surprised that neither Price nor his staff questioned the validity of Mrs. Climaco's petition, especially in view of the objections she raised to Price's petitions before the March primary.

"Perhaps they felt it was in their best interests to have Mrs. Climaco remain on the ballot," Gaffner said.

Venice renews demand for HUD investigation

By VALERIE EVENDEN

The Venice City Council's disapproval with funding allocations officially went on record Tuesday night when aldermen unanimously voted to ask the U.S. Housing and Urban Development (HUD) to investigate the methods used in allocating community development funds to Madison County communities.

Mayor Tyrone Echols was requested by the council to contact HUD officials in Chicago after no one in the council chambers could satisfactorily explain, nor understand, what criteria is being used in reaching allocation decisions.

Fourth Ward Alderman John Ervin sparked the council's response to the allocated amounts read by Mayor Echols, stating "Well, it seems like we will have to write to HUD again. In fact, it seems it would be most appropriate to write again."

Under the 1982-83 community development allocations, reported by Mayor Echols Tuesday night, Venice will receive a total of $22,500 in housing rehabilitation money and nothing from the discretionary fund.

Venice had applied for $30,000 in the housing renovation funds and $45,000 from the discretionary account.

The latter funds had been sought to resurface Broadway, the community's main thoroughfare, a project to be undertaken in conjunction with the Illinois Department of Transportation, Mayor Echols said.

First Ward Alderman Phillip Daniels suggested finding out if proposals submitted by other communities had been denied, in addition to Venice's application. "It would make a difference if we were the only ones," he added.

From the discretionary activities account, Mayor Echols said the City of Madison was listed for $15,000 for its industrial park, plus $32,500 in housing rehabilitation funds.

Venice Township was shown in the new discretionary allocation figures as eligible to receive $15,000 for street improvements in Eagle Park and $15,000 for street improvements in the Benjamin-Bloodworth additions.

From the same account, Granite City is slated to get $50,000 for its Old-Town West Granite programs and the City of Alton is listed twice, Mayor Echols said.

Alderman Daniels commented, "I'd like to know how these decisions are made. Is it on the basis of population or from some other decision?" he queried.

"Just who is making these decisions?" Alderman Ervin asked.

Mayor Echols noted, however, that from a total of $60,000 distributed throughout Madison County under the previous allotment, Venice Township only received $16,000.

Commenting that Venice should get its fair share, the mayor said, "We aren't really concerned about the other communities and what they're getting, just our own."

The Venice City Council previously requested guidance from federal authorities, and made a formal protest concerning the handling of community development funds in Madison County last March.

In other business, the mayor reported being favorably impressed upon attending a public hearing concerning the proposed expansion and improvements to the Tri-Cities Regional Port Authority.

"The proposal looks pretty good and no doubt there will be jobs involved that might eliminate the Venice area," he said.

He also reported an invitation to city officials from the port authorities to participate in their annual trip by barge along the Chain of Rocks Canal and Mississippi River to view construction progress at Lock 26 at Alton and inspect the site of the proposed expansion here.

The outing, which includes a buffet dinner, is scheduled from 4 p.m. until 8 p.m. Sept. 2. Aldermen and city officers who are interested in taking part were asked to list their names with the mayor to receive personal invitations.

Despite the closing of the Venice underpass on Broadway for repairs, McKinley Bridge traffic continues to increase over due to heavy rains. Prior to the emergency closing, a IDOT major repair project was geared to get underway sometime this month.

Traffic to the McKinley Bridge and Route 3 from Madison and Venice continues to be detoured over last July.

In regards to the major repair work by the Illinois Department of Transportation on the Broadway underpass, Mayor Echols said the first information he received was negative—that repairs would take an estimated four months due to the stringent state specifications imposed and unavailability of materials.

Since getting the initial report, he said, it appears the state authorities may have rectified some of the problems involved.

The underpass has been closed since July 10 when the pavement beneath collapsed due to heavy rains. Prior to the emergency closing, a IDOT major repair project was geared to get underway sometime this month.

Traffic to the McKinley Bridge and Route 3 from Madison and Venice continues to be detoured over Klein and Bissell streets.

"We have to know how long this project (underpass repairs) is going to take and for what length of time this undue pressure on Klein Street is going to continue."

"The street is not that solid and it's not going to take 10 to 15 trucks at one time. They are going to tear it up."

"We need some idea about the time involved to see what kind of arrangement the state will make with us on Klein," he added.

Building permits were approved for a frame 30-by-40-foot single story commercial warehouse, to be constructed at 33 and 35 Weaver Street by Curtis King, at a cost of $10,000; a two-room addition to a dwelling at 1219 Bissell St., costing $6,000, requested by Willie Bradley; and a one-room addition to a residence at 611 Fillmore Ave., requested by Betty Billick.

Signs bill to end inheritance tax

Governor James R. Thompson has taken action on legislation that will eliminate the state's inheritance tax, saving millions of dollars in taxes for owners of small, family-run businesses, farms and other estates.

"By approving this legislation, I believe that small business owners, farmers and many other Illinois citizens will be spared an inequitable and unfair tax," the governor said in his message to the legislature, changing the effective date of the measure.

"I believe that the time has come to eliminate this unjust and unfair tax. With this action, Illinois becomes one of the handful of progressive states which do not rely upon inheritance taxes for their revenue base," he said.

"While the revenue impact of this legislation is not significant, I believe that it is acceptable in order to relieve our citizens of the burden of an unjust inheritance tax and to encourage the continued existence of family-owned enterprises."

House Bill 93, which will become effective Jan. 1, 1983, under technical changes made by Thompson, was signed by the governor during a ceremony outside a family-run grocery store in Chicago, and at the Illinois State Fair at a farm exhibit later in the day.

The measure which must be approved by the governor's changes by the General Assembly during its November session, will save about $100 million in taxes during Fiscal Year 1984, the first year the tax change will take effect. Legislation signed two years ago by Governor Thompson gave relatives and others who were willed financial assets and property 10 months to pay inheritance taxes to the state.

Currently in Illinois, the inheritance tax on bequests varies between two percent and 30 percent, depending on the taxpayer's relation to the person who made out the will, and the amount received. For example, a spouse left $90,000 through a will would pay a two percent tax under current law. A friend, on the other hand, receiving more than $250,100 would pay 30 percent on portions of that bequest.

Through deductions available to close relatives, however, a spouse in some cases could receive more than $200,000 and pay no taxes.

"The bill signed by the governor today means a great deal to my business and I know that it will be good for many other small businesses and farms in Illinois," said Frank Lodarek, owner of the store where the bill was signed.

While the Illinois inheritance tax is being eliminated under the legislation signed by the governor, the state will continue to receive about $75 million in taxes in Fiscal Year 1984, the largest portion of that figure coming from the federal estate tax, which is being phased out under a measure passed by Congress last year.

Maeras served his fellow man

John Maeras, 56, a lifelong and well known resident of Madison, died Thursday night, a victim of cancer.

Maeras should be remembered for the good he did, not for the political and judicial controversy which surrounded the last years of his life.

He was a dedicated public servant, having served 10 years as a Madison policeman and going on to become chief deputy probate clerk for the county, then administrative circuit clerk before being elected Madison County treasurer in 1966.

He served four years as treasurer and was elected sheriff in 1970. Popular with the people, but not with the press, Maeras easily won re-election in 1974, without the endorsement of one county newspaper.

His career ended in illness and in allegations of wrongdoing while in office, but he has more than paid the price for any wrongs he may have committed. His punishment was worse than prison. Years of watching his health slip away to cancer was cruel and unusual punishment undeserved by any man.

John Maeras should be remembered for what he was. A tall, husky man with a pleasing smile and an abrupt, but likeable, manner. He was a good neighbor, a good family man, a good boss to hundreds of county workers and a good public servant.

John Maeras devoted the majority of his life to public service and to making Madison County a better place. He left his mark and will not be forgotten.

Citizen input needed on levy

Determining the proper property tax levy is far from an exact science. Alderman Walter Milton, Granite City finance committee chairman, expressed much the same type of sentiment when he sat down with the committee last week to come up with a liveable tax figure for his constituents.

Residents faced with their first tax installment deadline today have an opportunity tomorrow to visit the Granite City Township Hall and see how a portion of their tax bills will be determined for next year.

Unfortunately, the only exercise in local government tax involvement generally comes, belatedly, in the form of hurt accusations long after the levy decision-making process has passed.

Before automatically opting for the least amount of taxes, residents should consider some of the funding alternatives their respective aldermen may be forced to choose in the next few weeks and months, if too low a levy is set.

Last year, a static $2.5 million levy had to be supported by a protested 34-percent sales tax, higher car sticker prices, higher business license fees and a utility telephone tax. Other taxes that were considered, but have been temporarily discarded include a employee

"head tax," a luxury tax on liquor and restaurants, and, most importantly, a tax on electric and heating bills.

Some city services have suffered and employees wages were put on hold.

Alert informed residents could, at this time in the council's decision-making process, let their aldermen know what form they wish taxation to take and what level and types of city services they want. If they think the city could be run more efficiently, they should let that hope be known, too.

If residents want low taxes, no matter what, they should know ahead of time what they are trading. They shouldn't be quite so shocked by future deficits, annoying residential sewer lift stations that keep malfunctioning, streets that need repaving or higher ambulance bills and lack of paramedic care.

The alternatives may not be very comfortable to those trying to stay afloat in the hard economy times Alderman Milton has cited.

But, at least, residents should try to take the time to understand how levy decisions are made that can, indeed, affect their future.

Smith a bit too rough?

Assistant State's Attorney Marshall "Zeke" Smith did a little bit of beat-beating last week at a meeting of the Madison County Sanitary Sewers, concerning his legal refereeing of the misplaced sewer lines in yards of Brandon Heights residents.

The problem has put a snag on the final grant release of $600,000 to the service area and has continually disrupted and taken the time of the sewer committee itself, when members had other problems to solve.

Smith said that, despite giving the situation his best shot, he was not only being condemned by some locally for his handling of the situation, but he expressed the opinion he was probably being condemned as well by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency (IEPA), holding the purse strings on the grant funds.

Barbed verbal sparring matches between the Brandon Heights' residents and Smith, a representative both of the state's attorney's office and county board, were indeed not uncommon. On at least two occasions, feelings ran so high that the sheriff's department was called out to ride herd on one particular resident, who had engaged in verbal combat with Smith.

Just like bunny rabbits

It took somewhere between 2 million and 5 million years for the world's population to reach the first billion souls. The second billion arrived after 130 years. The upcoming billion mark — the fifth — will be reached in 1987, and it will be accomplished in a time span of 12 years.

Most of the growth is taking place in Third World nations, where food, housing, sanitation and economic opportunity are lacking. It may be the year 2040 before zero growth is reached. In the meantime, the world will be hard put to avoid widespread famine and disease.

Populations are exploding at an awesome rate. By the year 2000, the population of Latin America will have jumped 45 percent, Africa 70 percent, and the world, now populated with 4.6 billion people, will contain more than 6 billion.

Mexico City is expected to grow from its present 15 million to a supercity of 31 million in the next 18 years. Other supercities will include Sao Paulo, 25.8 million; Shanghai, 23.7 million; Tokyo-Yokohama, 23.7 million; and New York-New Jersey, 22.4 million.

By the end of the century, more than half the world's population will be living in large cities, a situation that brings on social and political pressures, leading to racial, class and regional unrest.

All these figures point to one conclusion. There's got to be some control over the birth rate and the sooner it's obtained, the less painful it will be. The crowding of the globe will become so apparent within a few years that there will be few who will argue against birth control.

The world has to work out a solution before it's too late.

Greedy is OPEC's worst enemy

Indianapolis Star comment — Economic cartels are born, and often destroyed, by the same parent — greed.

While the 13-member Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) isn't yet destroyed, it suffers from enough internal troubles and internal strife to threaten its survival.

A meeting in Vienna of OPEC members collapsed because of intramural squabbles over the basic question of how much money each member should make.

OPEC is unable to adjust to the sharp decline in oil consumption resulting from the price increases it set during the 1970s.

Last March's OPEC agreement to limit output to 17.5 million barrels a day, which for a time seemed to turn the market to its advantage, has now been virtually abandoned because of sharp differences among members over how to reallocate individual country quotas to halt overproduction and price-cutting.

Widespread cheating by Libya, Nigeria and the worst offender, Iran, made it difficult for OPEC to maintain its production ceiling.

At Vienna, the Venezuelan delegate, Humberto Calderon Berti, bitterly denounced the group's inability to agree on a production ceiling and made veiled threats that his nation would withdraw from OPEC entirely.

It may not be a hard, fast rule but cartels often carry within them the seeds of their own destruction because they set prices excessively higher than what the free market will accept. Then, when the resulting drop in sales occurs, some members cut their prices below the cartel's limit in order to continue selling their product.

There may be a lesson here — that what greed can organize, greed can dissolve.

Better lonesome than bored

Mainly For Seniors

By JOHN T. WATTS

Dear John: I read the letter in your column from John G. stating that he was trying to break the lonesome habit. The letter was of interest to me, as I can relate to his problem.

I am not basically a loner, but I have found that I would rather be lonesome than bored.

I was married for 22 years and recently for seven. I am now divorced and wishing I had someone with a common interest yet when I enumerate the things I do, they are sadly lacking.

My children are grown and married except for the youngest son who will be graduated from school next year. I am a caring mother and grandmother, but I feel that I've paid my dues, so to speak, and I am not interested in being a baby sitter, so I only do that in an emergency.

My children are scattered in four different states and happily living their own lives. I woke up this morning and wondered what good it had done me to have had six children. So you see, I am very much alone.

I have a small mobile home park here in Crawfordville, Ind., and although it doesn't require a lot of maintenance, I need to be here most of the time in case something needs my attention.

I had thought about selling it after my last divorce, but I realized it is a good investment and will do exactly what I had intended it to when I first started building it 12 years ago, namely provide a nice retirement income.

I am a deliberate person, some would say a slow thinker and a slow mover, but I have made a lot of mistakes in my life and I don't want to make any more if I can help it.

John G. sounds interesting to me, as he says he wants to do something that will keep him active physically, but he probably has the same problem I have, that being that most activities are more fun if you have an interested partner. It would help me to have someone to help me with the maintenance of my park, but someone also who was interested in doing something. I like to dance and I love to travel, although I haven't done much of either for the last eight years. I've tried to keep my figure and like to exercise. I don't play tennis or golf nor do I bowl. I am artistic and do pastel chalk drawing.

There is only one thing that wasn't mentioned by John G. about himself that would make a difference to me, in that I am tall and I vowed to myself I would never again even date a man shorter than myself, so if he's under 5 foot 11, forget it. — Carol B.

"We have come through an industrial revolution that has made capitalism inadequate," Mayor Kirkpatrick of Granite City, representing the Socialist party, told St. John's Men's Brotherhood at Wood River Thursday evening as it opened a series of political forums which will bring before it representatives of various parties. "Let all the people own collectively what they use collectively," Mayor Kirkpatrick suggested.

Some taxing bodies whose officials are opposing a county service charge for tax extension work actually may profit from the county tax system as it now operates, John Kraynak, county auditor, said this week. Because of elimination of the use of fees to finance government operations under the new 1970 Illinois Constitution, taxing bodies will be receiving distribution of the full amount of their tax extensions without the deduction of 2 percent as fees for town collectors and 3 percent deduction by the county collector, Kraynak noted. Most taxing agencies throughout the county are objecting to the service charge levied by the county for a total of $1,407,000. Each taxing body has been assessed a charge on the basis of 3 percent of its tax extension. In a suit challenging the legality of the service charge, Circuit Judge William Beatty ruled in circuit court at Edwardsville last week that all monies paid to County Treasurer George Musso as service charges must be held in escrow until the court can conduct further hearings toward a final determination of the issues.

The Association to perform at BAC

Tickets go on sale Monday, Aug. 16, for the Belleville Area College and WIBV presentation of The Association.

The Association, which has popularized such classics as "Cherish," "Windy," "Never My Love," and "Along Comes Mary," will perform at 8 p.m. Friday, Oct. 8, at the BAC main campus, 2500 Carlyle Road, Belleville.

Tickets are $5 and are available at Student Activities, room 3290 at the main campus; Ludwig Music in St. Clair Square, Fairview Heights; and The Record Works, 3605 W. Main, Belleville. For information, those interested should call 1-235-2700, extension 205.

The Association, known as one of the best of the 1960's soft rock bands, has earned six gold records and one platinum record. Their greatest hits album remains the longest selling record in Warner Brothers Record's history.

Known for carefully crafted words and music, intricately woven harmonies and clean, studied instrumentation, the group was founded in the mid-60s by Jules Alexander and Russ Giguere. Their ensemble harmonies were the first to be termed "folk rock."

They quickly gained national fame after signing with Valiant Records in 1966, receiving their first gold record within two months. In 1967 the Gavin Report proclaimed The Association the number one pop-rock group, unseating the Beatles for the first time.

The Associations

The group was at the height of its popularity in 1972 when members decided to retire. With their futures financially assured and leisure time more attractive than touring and recording, the young millionaires disbanded.

In 1978, The Association reassembled for a television special. The public and critics' positive response to the special prompted the group to reunite.

Following a California performance, the Los Angeles Times said:

"Reunited after nearly a decade, The Association could have just replayed the 60's, but they didn't, what could have dissolved into nostalgia crystallized into a bid for stardom in the 80's."

The group consists of Alexander, Giguere, Ted Bluechee, Larry Ramos, Jim Yester and Rick Ulsky. Ulsky is the only new member.

The Association will also appear at 8 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 7, at Maryville College in St. Louis and at 8 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 9, at Lewis and Clark Community College in Godfrey.

Hyde Park Fair offers antiques, arts, crafts

Hyde Park, one of St. Louis' oldest neighborhoods, will host its Sixth Annual Antique Street Market Fair from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 29. The fair is sponsored by Historic Hyde Park, Inc., a participating member of the non-profit neighborhood coalition, the Hyde Park Partnership.

More than 75 booths featuring antiques, arts and crafts, displays and refreshments will be found in Hyde Park, located two miles north of downtown St. Louis, two blocks west of the Salisbury exit of Interstate 70.

Among the unique special events scheduled for the day will be an Antique Scavenger Hunt, a Battle of the Bands and a Mini-House Tour.

The Scavenger Hunt originates from the On the Wall Production mural, titled "Discovery of Hyde Park," located across from the southwest corner of Hyde Park at Salisbury and North 20th streets. The locations of fifteen elements of the mural, ranging from windows to cornices, found throughout the Hyde Park historic district, must be determined for eligibility in a drawing for prizes to be held the day of the fair.

Cardinal Baseball tickets, ceiling fans donated by Emerson Electric Company, Fox Theatre season tickets, an AM-FM pocket radio from Cohen Appliance and TV Warehouse Showroom and many more prizes will be given to successful scavenger hunters.

Entry forms and more information are available to those interested by calling the Hyde Park Information Center, 231-1118, or by visiting the Center at 1530 Salisbury. Deadline for submission of completed forms is 5 p.m. Friday, Aug. 27.

The Battle of the Bands will fill Hyde Park with music. Bands will perform in the gazebo at the south side of the park. Other musical entertainment will be available throughout the park by performers including Carl Engler's Viennese Serenaders. A concert at 7 p.m. by the Mighty Mississippi Concert Band will cap off the festivities.

A mini-house tour, featuring several homes around or near the park, will be offered from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Tickets will be on sale at $1 per person only during the day of the fair.

The fair, which raises funds for improvement projects in the 66-block historic district, is free and open to the public. For further information on scheduled activities, interested persons should call 1-314-231-1118.

Linotype patented Ottmar Mergenthaler obtained a patent for the Linotype machine to set type on Aug. 26, 1884.

Disappearance

Krekovich of Granite City, said this morning that he does not know of the reward. He said he did not want to discuss his sister's disappearance.

Asked if he felt the disappearances may be linked to the pro-life movement, L. Hertz said, "Every organization has a few weirdos. It is possible an irrational person went off the deep end. Nothing's possible at this point."

However, he added, "Everyone knows he (Dr. Zevallos) is extremely wealthy. It could be an irrational kidnaper after his money."

The Zevallos's have no children, but Dr. Zevallos is the father of two grown children from a previous marriage. The two, a son and a daughter, reside in St. Louis.

Construction of Hilton advances

By JUDY TAPLIN
for the Press-Record

Construction of a 238-room Hilton Hotel in Eastport Plaza in Collinsville could begin within the next two to four weeks according to developer Gary Fears, a former resident of Granite City and Venice.

The announcement came several hours after confirmation that the hotel project will receive $13.4 million in funding from a new state of Illinois loan program.

The program is being financed from the state's $1.5 billion investment base. In all, $30 million will be available for 27 private commercial projects in the state. Gov. James Thompson announced in press conferences in Chicago and Springfield.

Woody Mosgers, Thompson's assistant press secretary, said the Hilton project in Collinsville and another motel project in Springfield will receive the largest amount of funding of all 27 projects.

$13 million is earmarked for the motel in Springfield, he said.

Fears hotel project is the only one from Southern Illinois to make the list. One hundred projects had been in the running initially for the funds, Mosgers said.

A jubilant Fears said that "we're ready to go virtually immediately" on the hotel's construction.

Fears wasn't the only person happy with the hotel's acceptance as one of the 27 projects.

"I guarantee you, we're ready if he's ready," Dean Turner, secretary-treasurer of the Southwestern Illinois Building & Construction Trades Council in Collinsville said.

Mosgers said the only details remaining on the 27 projects are technical ones — the filling out of numerous forms.

The 27 projects, in 15 Illinois counties, are expected to provide work for more than 2,600 persons.

The Hilton, in addition to its 238 rooms, will have a restaurant and 8,000 square feet of banquet facilities.

Construction is expected to take about 14 months and to create approximately 175 jobs here.

In the project with Fears is B. C. Glitchoff of Granite City; their company is Collinsville Hotel Partners.

The hotel will be the first structure to go up in Eastport Plaza, located at Interstate 55-70 and Illinois 157.

Earlier high hopes for Eastport's development — including the hotel, a bottling firm and a bank — have been dashed by economic conditions in the past several years.

Also still on hold is an Illinois Department of Transportation regional office building planned in Fears' development.

Roads and a water line have been completed in Eastport.

State Treasurer Jerome Cosentino, on a recent visit to the metro-east, mentioned the new state investment program and had said the Hilton would be one of the projects.

This announcement had been a surprise to Fears, who had turned financing for the hotel over to a Chicago group and who had normally applied for the state funding.

The $100 million in the state investment program will go to banks as matching funds for loans to private developers like Collinsville Hotel Partners.

Fears has said the total annual revenues expected from the hotel and restaurant will be between $5-8 million.

Sparks plans town meeting on answering GC ambulance increase

By GEORGEANN MCGEE

Chouteau Township residents will soon have a chance to voice their own views on the ambulance contract dispute that has continued for several months between their township and Granite City and which threatens to leave the township without ambulance service in 15 days.

Granite City, the past ambulance service provider for surrounding townships and cities, has given stubborn township residents the more expensive terms of its amended ambulance contract or find themselves cut off from ambulance service.

Walter "Dick" Sparks, Chouteau Township supervisor who disagrees with the new terms, said he will call a public meeting of township residents next week to get their input on the deadlocked ambulance negotiations.

Sparks made the decision to conduct the public meeting after he received a letter from Granite City, officially informing Chouteau non-compliance with the new terms would finally sever ambulance service.

Although the amended contract went into effect May 1, Granite City continues to operate ambulances in the township while talks between the township and city are being conducted.

Sparks said he will probably set the date for the public meeting sometime during the week of Aug. 22. The meeting is intended to be a special session and will not include a regular Chouteau Board of Trustees meetings.

Sparks said he will ask residents if they want to pay the new $125 per person, plus $2 per mile portal-to-portal cost, while Granite City residents pay a flat $100 fee per ambulance run.

Granite City representatives contend the higher fee to outlying cities and townships is necessary offset city taxes that must go into subsidizing the ambulance service. That subsidization costs city residents about $210,000 a year.

The supervisor said he wants to know if residents are willing to pay the "higher" fee not only for themselves but for anyone needing ambulance service in Chouteau Township and for persons who fail to pay their ambulance bills. This rule applies to bills for Granite City residents who receive ambulance service within Chouteau's boundaries.

Sparks warns that if ambulance service continues, ambulance bills not paid will be turned over to a collection agency.

Granite City is financially responsible for Chouteau residents who do not pay their ambulance bills, if they require ambulance service in Granite City.

Sparks said he feels that his township should only be responsible for bills incurred by those eligible for general assistance.

If residents agree with Sparks that the contract terms are too high, he believes that Granite City will still respond to the calls of individual residents living in the township. However, the Granite City ambulance committee has threatened that all service, even to Granite City residents needing service in non-compliance towns, will be discontinued after Aug. 31.

Venice studies swimming pool idea

By PAT HAYLUTZ
For the Press-Record

As soon as April 1983, the citizens of Venice may be voting on a refreshing addition to their community within the next few years. The Venice Park Board decided Thursday to study the "phenomenal" cost of maintaining a swimming pool for the community park.

Although Park Superintendent Alfred Crawford indicated that the plan for the swimming pool had deterred board members in the past, Board Member Earl Hogan appeared determined.

"This community needs something like this badly. By following William Park's example, we could charge a fee to use the pool and offset the cost of maintenance," he said.

At the suggestion of Board Attorney Larry Hartman, the board will seek the assistance of the Illinois Park Association in determining the cost of building the pool before putting a referendum on the ballot.

In other actions the board turned down a proposal from Silver Franklin to repair the tennis courts so that

Venice could sponsor a tennis tournament. According to Superintendent Crawford, it would cost the board approximately $1,200 just to fill and paint the courts. The figure does not include resurfacing. Board Member Earl Hogan offered this apologetic explanation when the board denied the proposal. "It would be nice if we could afford it."

A request by Charles Collins, 1982 Summer Recreation Director, to hold a picnic for the township to participate in the Venice-Madison Summer Recreational Program was unanimously approved by the board members. The picnic, which will be held from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturday, Aug. 21, at Lee Park in Venice, will offer a variety of activities, including sports activities, arts and crafts and picnic games. According to Collins, "We are able to have this picnic because many of the parents donated money for a final activity and we ended up with approximately $200 for the picnic."

Collins still is looking for donations for food and drinks and added that he can be contacted at the Recreational Center daily from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m.

In a financial decision, the board members decided to suspend all business transactions with Venice Gas and Oil Company until they can determine if bills totaling approximately $400 have been paid to that company. After reviewing bills from the company, board members noted that several had not been marked as having been paid. According to Superintendent Crawford, "The secretaries given the OK to pay those bills. Now, being given the OK and actually paying the bills are two different things."

Board Member Barbara Harrell suggested that "the bills were in the minutes' records and may have been mislaid and never paid." "Until this matter is cleared up, I suggest that we discontinue all purchases," Mrs. Harrell said.

The members also determined that all further purchases, except for those required by routine maintenance, be approved by the finance committee, in order to prevent such confusion in the future.

Second thoughts about giving away parks

In order to reduce the county expenses and avoid a $2.3 million deficit in the 1983 budget, county officials are considering a draft proposal to give all parks leased or owned by the county to the townships. But officials are having second thoughts concerning the proposal.

The proposal calls for elimination of the eight parks under county control. The proposition would transfer ownership of two county parks and control of six others to the respective townships where the parks are located.

Although the county's Recreation and Education Committee tabled the plan at a recent Finance Committee meeting because of complications, the committee did not eliminate action totally.

The possibility of consolidating the park with another department, like building and lands, is in question.

It was pointed out that very little of the money on the budget is used on maintenance of the parks. Most go toward Nursing and Shelter Care homes and TB Clinic. Therefore, giving the parks away would not save that much money.

The idea of eliminating the Recreation and Education Committee's budget came about when a report reported at 7:30 a.m. Friday. Entry was apparently gained through the passenger door window, which was out of its track, he said.

VAN BURGLARIZED

Three fishing rods and reels valued at $200 and a four-drawer metal box containing a fishing equipment costing $500 was taken from the van of Kenneth Bonser, 2615 St. Louis, the owner reported at 7:30 a.m. Friday. Entry was apparently gained through the passenger door window, which was out of its track, he said.

City Finances

The committee had been charged with estimating what percentage the levy would actually rise in order to comply with a state truth-in-taxation law, requiring public notice necessary for any increase of five percent or more of the preceding levy.

"We have a task to do, and at this point it doesn't look like the kind of job anyone would want to do," Milton said.

Milton, however, rapidly paraded point to a tentative 6 percent hike, just less than the sum required for public notice after certain allowable items are subtracted from the total expected levy.

The new tentative levy met varying degrees of acceptance from others present, including Fourth Ward Alderman Warren Decatur — the other finance committee member present —

Schuler, Alderman Sam Williams, Clerk Clerk Robert Stevens and Comptroller Miklowicz.

He arrived at his own figures after consulting the comptroller's 1983 expenses and the current budget. To those calculations, he applied his own self-labeled "wild imaginings" to arrive at a "livable" tax rate.

At the start of the committee meeting, the chairman said he intended to extract certain items from next year's expenses. Substantial differences between the alderman's and comptroller's initial levy provisions turned out to be $600,000 less funding. Each such amount to be taken from the comptroller's estimated price for the city's trash hauling contract and for its needed combined contribution to the police and fire pension fund.

Milton also advocated removing one of the two $210,000 figures — each intended as one year's subsidization of the city's ambulance service.

Decatur said policemen and firefighters will probably be displeased about the drop in their pension fund, but funding of $200,000 each out of the suggested $500,000 yearly sum, when the city is in a "tight fix" should be sufficient.

Viewing the overall levy recommendation of $2.6 million, Decatur warned that the city is currently struggling by its $2.5 million levy set last year.

Milton said other cuts might be made in the escalating electrical costs by reducing the number of streetlights in the city. The alderman said some adjustments could be made where streetlights are posted at every third house.

Milton, however, discarded his own idea to cut by 10 percent city expenses (excluding the employee salaries) after Decatur said this year the individual city departments had already "cut them (expenses) as bad as they could."

The tentative levy includes some leeway for city employees pay increases, excluding the wastewater treatment plant employees.

Although the mayor did not disagree with the finance committee's final recommendation, Schuler said some budget items are difficult to estimate in advance. He included the trash contract among those intangible items.

The proposed 6 percent hike in the 1983 general budget does not include the disposal wastewater treatment plant sludge. That cost must come from city sewer user fees.

Sludge disposal, now free to the city, is expected to be another expensive item after the city's contract expires with SCA Services next June.

Maeras

That law was changed in time for the 1974 election and Maeras handily won re-election, without the support of the county's newspapers.

Maeras was the younger brother of the late Stephen Maeras, former mayor of Madison and one of the most powerful political leaders in this region for many years.

John Maeras and his wife, Donella (Maeras) Jones, were married in 1947. She is a matron at the Madison County Jail. They have raised two children, John S. Maeras, at home, and Mrs. Jo Ann Lusk of Breeze.

Maeras is a past president of the Illinois Sheriff's Association, the Madison County Police Association and the Madison Lions Club and held memberships in the Venice-Madison American Legion Post 307, Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 1300, Marine Corps League, Amvets Post 204, Illinois Police Association and the National Sheriff's Association.

Survivors, besides those mentioned above, include two sisters, Marie J. McEld and Mrs. Pete (Victoria) Skundrich, both of Madison, and three grandchildren.

Funeral services were to begin at 10 a.m. today in Madison. Details appear in today's obituary column.

First tax installment due today

First tax installments on all property tax bills are due Monday, Granite City, Venice and Nameoki collectors will charge late penalties on first installments after that date.

Venice and Nameoki collectors have both extended collection hours in anticipation of a rush of last-minute taxpayers.

Zella Niehaus, Venice tax collector, said her office will be open this Saturday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. in a special effort to reach taxpayers. The collector's office is located at 122 Madison Ave.

Payments to Venice Township also may be made at the First National Bank in Madison from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Monday through Thursday and 12:30 to 3:30 p.m. on Friday.

Granite City Treasurer Nick Petrillo, who also serves as the town collector, said collections in his township have been brisk. Petrillo said that this year, some taxpayers are paying both their first and second tax bill installments at the same time to help prevent corrections by local agencies dependent upon the immediate flow of tax funds.

Petrillo said he has distributed about $1.2 million in taxes since collections began last month and expects to distribute an additional $600,000 tomorrow.

Granite City Township tax bills may be paid during regular banking hours at the First Granite City National Bank, Granite City Trust and Savings Bank, American Heritage Bank of Granite City and Colonial Bank of Granite City.

Petrillo said his office, which also collects tax payments, will not be offering any special hours for the first payments. Hours at the city treasurer's office, 2000 Edison Ave., are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Nameoki Township Tax Collector Norman Hall, who was instrumental in securing the exclusive right to the township collector to accept tax payments, until Sept. 1, said he and three other workers will be accepting payments at the Nameoki Township office from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. on Monday.

The Nameoki Township office, 4250 Highway 162, is normally open for daily collections on weekdays from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Nameoki payments also can be made at the five Quad-City banks listed above.

Hall said he has made three tax distributions so far and expects to make another disbursement by next week. Thus far, Nameoki Township has distributed $352,884 to taxing agencies, until Sept. 1. The second tax payment is due on Oct. 18. At the start of September, collections will be made by Madison County Treasurer Mick Henkhaus.

Seek men who raped woman

Police are looking for two men who raped a young Granite City woman and forced her to cohabit with other sex acts at gunpoint about 11:55 p.m. Saturday. The attack took place in an alley between Missouri and Illinois avenue in the 2100 block.

An officer went to an address in the 2000 block of Illinois, where the young woman, 19, had sought refuge after the incident. The residents said the girl knocked on the back door and told the couple she was being chased by men in a car.

The officer said the victim was visibly upset and could not immediately answer questions about the first, emotional state. She was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for treatment.

An emergency room personnel and a social worker then talked with the girl, who said she was walking to the Eleven store, 1818 Street and Niedringhaus Avenue, when an older model reddish-colored vehicle drove by and the two male occupants whistled at her. A short distance away, the vehicle stopped and the merrogot out, and pushed her down the alley.

One man, described as tall and thin with a beard and long dark hair, collar length, pointed a gun at her and ordered her to remove her clothing or he would kill her, the girl told hospital authorities.

Both men then raped her, made her perform two other sex acts and forced her to drink some kind of alcoholic beverage. She reported the second man was about 6 feet tall, also thin, with long light colored hair, worn past the shoulders, and a mustache.

After the attack, the men left the scene and she retrieved her clothing and ran down the alley until she found a house where lights were on and she asked for help, she said.

An investigation is continuing.

APA says, check for ID cards

To the Editor:
On behalf of the Association for the Protection of Animals (APA), I would like to take this opportunity to advise the public of Granite City and the surrounding communities of a situation which has come to our attention recently.

We understand from several persons that there has been a number of people claiming to be members of the APA, when in fact, they are not. These people are giving false information and, at times, taking matters into their own hands.

We urge the public that if someone comes to your home and complains of an animal which you own or informs you that they are a member of the APA, you have the right to insist they produce a membership card from the APA with their signature on it. Further, if they do not have such a card, it is your privilege not to communicate with them.

Also, we would like to remind everyone to please make sure your animals have plenty of water, food and shelter at all times, especially during these hot summer months and please do not leave your animals in your car.

Crawford pitches no hitter

Corral eliminates McDonalds from playoffs

Cowboys to meet Nationals in finale

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — The odds were against Corral Liqueur in the first round of the Inter-City League baseball playoffs Sunday, but the Cowboys cruised off the upset of the tournament by defeating McDonald's, the regular season champion.

Corral finished last in the four-team league this season, but now the Cowboys will have a chance to win the league championship. Corral swept the double-header, 6-2 in the first game and 4-0 on Ken Crawford's no-hitter in the second game.

Corral will play Edwardsville in a double-header Sunday for the league championship. If the teams split, a third game will be played August 20. McDonald's was eliminated from the tournament.

Edwardsville swept Maryville Sunday, 20-3 and 13-5, to earn the right to host the championship at Hoppe Park. (See related story.) The double-header starts at 1 p.m.

Ken Crawford, who is also Corral's manager, stole the show with his no-hitter. This was his first no-hitter since

"There was no pressure on us to win these games. We just put everything together and got the job done."

Ken Crawford
Corral Cowboys' player-manager

he was 13 years old. Ironically, Crawford lost that no-hitter 1-0. He gave up two walks and his teammates committed two errors in the first three innings, so he didn't realize he was pitching a no-hitter until the fourth inning.

Once Crawford knew he had a no-hitter going, he was perfect. No McDonald's runner reached first base from the fourth inning on. "I knew I had the no-hitter going from the fourth inning, but it didn't start to get to me until the seventh inning. I heard the McDonald's players trying to tell me I was pitching a no-hitter, but I really didn't pay any attention to them," Crawford said.

The possibility of a no-hitter caused Crawford to become tense and throw erratically in the seventh. He gave up two balls to McDonald's Jeff Parker before giving Parker a perfect pitch to hit.

Parker hit a long fly ball to left field which appeared to be a double or triple, but the ball stayed in the air long enough to allow left fielder Larry Burns to get to the ball and catch it.

"It would have been out for a home run had it been hit at South's field," Crawford said. "For some reason, the ball just hung up there so Larry could get to it."

After that hit, Bill Dalton also popped to Burns, and Dan Fichte grounded out to clinch the no-hitter.

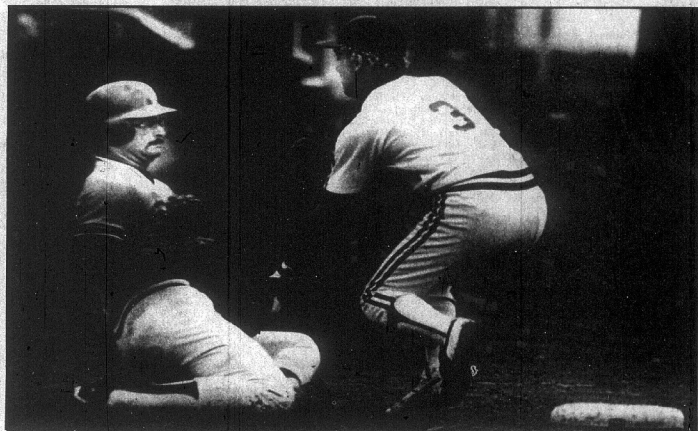

Last week, Crawford was upset with some of his teammates because of a double-header forfeit to Maryville August 8. This week, Crawford made sure to mention his teammates' contributions to the no-hitter.

"Larry made a couple of great catches out there, and our shortstop (Mike Clark) really had a fine play too," Crawford said.

Crawford struck out five batters. Corral was fortunate that Crawford pitched a no-hitter because Corral didn't produce much offense after the first inning.

McDonald's pitcher Al Yount gave up four runs in the first inning and five hits in the first two innings, but Yount gave up no hits in the final five innings. McDonald's also turned three double plays.

Mike Clark opened the game for Corral with a single. With two out, Dave header in the Inter-City League playoffs Sunday. McDonald's pitcher, Tim Kirksey, caught Hagenbrock with too much of a lead off second and threw to Schous for the easy out.

Hagenbrock hit a double and John Lakin hit a single to drive home both Clark and Hagenbrock.

Warren Buster reached on an error, and Jeff Stamper's single scored Lakin. Buster scored an error.

Clark opened the second inning with a single, but Yount didn't allow any more hits after that.

"McDonald's has a good team, and they gave us a pretty good game," Crawford said.

In the first game, Corral came from behind to defeat McDonald's.

Pat Hogan walked for McDonald's and John Pritchard's triple in the third inning.

Corral came back in the fourth inning with a four run inning. Lakin hit a single, and Stamper walked. Buster came through with a two-run double to left field to put Corral ahead. Mark Clark walked, and Mike Clark also hit a two-run double to left field.

Parker scored for McDonald's in the sixth after hitting a single and scoring on Fichte's single.

Corral came back with two more runs in the seventh to clinch the game. Hagenbrock reached on an error, and Lakin hit a triple to drive Hagenbrock home. Lakin scored when McDonald's tried to pick off Buster stealing second.

Buster reached on a walk before Lakin scored.

Doug Rains picked up the win for Corral. He struck out only one batter, but he gave up only five hits. Tim Kirksey pitched a seven-hitter but got the loss.

Lakin was 3-for-4 in the first game, and Fichte was 2-for-3.

"There was no pressure on us to win these games," Crawford said. "We just put everything together, and got the job done."

Edwardsville meets Corral

EDWARDSVILLE — The Edwardsville Nationals hit nine home runs in its double header sweep of the Maryville Red Sox in the Inter-City League playoffs Sunday.

Edwardsville destroyed Maryville 20-3 in the first game and defeated the Red Sox 13-5 in the second game to earn the right to host Corral Liqueur of Granite City in the league championship next Sunday.

Rusty Graham blasted three home runs in the two games for Edwardsville to lead the Nationals' hitting derby. Dan Alleria and Phil Condreux both hit two home runs, and Greg Sterner and Dave Krause also hit a home run each.

In addition, Sterner was 3-for-9 in the double header with his home run, a double, a triple, and five singles.

"The ball was just carrying well, especially in the power alleys," Edwardsville manager Joe Mueller said. "We're just peaking at the right time with good pitching and an average of 10 stolen bases a game."

Edwardsville handled Maryville so easily that it could let everyone play. In the first game, the Nationals had a 20-1 lead after six innings, and they had a 13-1 lead in the second game before putting in the substitutes.

Seebolds come home; Mike wins Grand Prix

WAITING FOR THE RACE. Bill Seebold, former Granite City and championship Formula I powerboat racer, as he waited for Sunday's rains to cease at the St. Louis World Championship Grand Prix outboard race at George Winter Park in Fenton, Mo. Mike, Bill Seebold's oldest son, won the Busch Cup in the Formula I 100-lap final.

Mike Seebold, of St. Louis, Mo., won the Busch Cup yesterday at the 11th annual St. Louis World Championship Grand Prix Boat Races on the Meramec River at George Winter Park in Fenton, Mo.

The 23-year-old Seebold, who is sponsored in Formula I competition by Bud Light, is the son of Bill Seebold, formerly of Granite City. Mike won the 100-lap main event after taking first on the 40th lap. His father, who also races for Bud Light, dropped out of the race after an engine malfunction.

Tim Seebold, 18-year-old son of Bill, competed in Formula II competition yesterday and also finished third in the SST 120 final race Saturday. The Grand Prix competition was the first time Tim had raced boats of that size and power.

"Considering that this was the first time he raced in a boat that runs 110 mph, I thought he did very good," Bill said of his youngest competing son. Tim, who is sponsored by Hauser Racing, first put the boat he raced with on the water Monday, his father said.

Tim, who has been racing for about three years, received some advice from his father before the SST 120 event started. "I told him there was no way he could out drive Buck Thornton. I told him to pace himself and not to get himself into trouble," Thornton won the SST 120 competition.

Bill placed second yesterday in the first Formula I qualifying heat after a lengthy series of rain delays. He overtook Ken Stevenson of Mentor, Ohio on the straightaway of the 14th lap, thrilling the hometown crowd of 10,739 rain-soaked, muddy fans. Lee Sutter, of Glen Ellyn, who won the Busch Cup last year, placed first in that qualifier.

Mike also placed second in the second qualifying heat of Formula I boats behind Buck Thornton of Atlanta, Ga., who was out of the final when his engine went out shortly into the race.

The Grand Prix is perhaps the most prestigious race of the season. "You can win St. Louis and have a lousy season (for the remainder) and still consider that you did good," Sutter said before the race.

Races were delayed on an hourly basis yesterday until the rain stopped around noon and the first Formula II qualifying heat started. The weather held, save for periods of drizzle, until the Formula I boats were on the water. At that time, a heavy downpour caused yet another delay.

American Power Boat Association rules prohibit starting a race in rain for safety reasons.

"With this caliber of race, we have a right to drive under ideal conditions," Sutter said.

The St. Louis Grand Prix is sponsored annually by the Concord Village Lions Club.

A memorial fund has been established for Joe Burgess, 34, of Gallatin, Tenn., who was killed Friday during an accident that occurred during a practice lap. Contributions may be sent to Joe Burgess Memorial Fund, 11070 Gravois Industrial Court, St. Louis, Mo. 63128.

Despite rivalry, racers friendship flourishes

By NANCY WEIL
of the Press-Record

Bill Seebold and Lee Sutter have been friends for a long time. They also have been rivals since the early days of their friendship.

There is a thin line between the two elements of their relationship.

As the two men sat in a trailer waiting for the rain to stop yesterday at the St. Louis World Championship Grand Prix boat races at George Winter Park in Fenton, Mo., they watched stories, remembered past races, and kidded each other even though their spirits were dampened by the thought that the Formula I race might be cancelled.

At that time early in the afternoon, neither of them had any idea when or if they would race. Nor could they predict the outcome — boat racing is an iffy business.

The primary concern was the weather.

"It doesn't sound promising," Seebold said as yet another delay was announced. "There's probably more race fans out there for it raining than I've ever seen."

It did not take long for Sutter, who had been sitting nearby with one ear on the conversation, to join in.

"Vision is probably the most difficult thing (when it is raining)," Seebold said. Windshields fog up, which makes racing at straightaway speeds up to 130 mph even more hazardous.

"Down pressure from the rain makes the boats handle a lot different," Sutter added.

But the two men said that if a poll had been taken early in the afternoon, with no sign of dry weather, most of the drivers would have opted to race, which is an unfortunate situation.

Obviously on the minds of the two was the death Friday afternoon of Joe Burgess, 34, of Gallatin, Tenn., when his powerboat flipped on top of him on the first turn of the course during a practice run.

The recent fatality and the added danger of driving rain, made both Seebold and Sutter wary of racing.

Under normal circumstances, drivers must contend with spray from powerboats in front. "That's why it's so important to be the guy in front," Seebold said. Add rain to the usual amount of spray, and the situation becomes particularly precarious.

"It's hard to read the water — the lumps and the depth. It seems like your depth perception gets all goofed up. Accidents occur a lot easier," Sutter said.

The two recalled various races in Toronto, Canada, where there were "ocean swells," (Seebold), in Philadelphia where it was "treacherous" (Sutter), and in Amsterdam where a race was started in the rain and a driver was badly injured.

But there was another dangerous factor involved yesterday with particularly tough competition, which the two men feared, might make racing riskier.

Those racers driving on the inside have no place to go and you really have to tip toe (past them)," Sutter said. But European racers, they both observed, drive differently than American racers.

With a field of 32 entrants, the course was likely to become a minefield in spots.

Several of the racers do not usually race on the American Power Boat Association or National Powerboat Association circuit, which meant Seebold, Sutter and other experienced drivers could be competing against some racers for the first time.

"You worry because you never know what stunt they'll pull," Sutter, who won the Busch Cup in Formula I competition last year, said.

A group comes in because they want to race in St. Louis. They're so super aggressive that it's hard to get past them. I cringe when I go inside."

"I usually back off and let them go. If they don't look, I'll let them go even if it means letting somebody get ahead of me," Seebold said.

Sutter had run several laps the day before and nearly been hit — ironically by the only woman Formula I driver.

The two agreed, overall, that competition would be particularly good if the race were held.

Seebold and Sutter provide good competition for each other — and have for quite some time.

Their fathers raced against each other, they race against each other and both have 11-year-old sons that are friends. Even though Sutter is from Glen Ellyn, a Chicago suburb, their two sons keep their friendship alive when they are both at various races.

The youngsters race small boats and Sutter said often argue about which father is better.

"We'll probably be on the shore in rocking chairs someday arguing about whose kid is better," Sutter said. The two laughed. Sutter said he does not want his son to race and Seebold's wife, Lynne, is not thrilled with the idea that their youngest son might someday race.

"I didn't think Billy was interested in racing, but in the last three weeks that's all he's been talking about," Seebold said.

Seebold and Sutter are perhaps reluctant because they realize the strain and danger involved.

The men talked of the difficulties in completing a 100-lap race. Hand cramps, from gripping the steering wheel and leg cramps, from being confined in the boat, are but two problems. Sutter mentioned seeing the necks of other drivers whipping around from the force of driving up to 130 mph.

But despite the hazards, neither Seebold or Sutter would change their careers.

The weather finally started to break and the two prepared to race. Unfortunately for Seebold, his engine malfunctioned shortly into the 100-lap final.

He spent part of the race watching from the dock as his son Mike, and his friend Lee, raced. Bill had been positioned second on the dock at the beginning of the race, between Lee, who started at the first spot, and Mike, who started third at the dock.

Seebold walked over and talked to Sutter's crew. Although his words could not be discerned it was at that point, when the two no longer were rivals in the Formula I championship, that the important part of the relationship became evident.

Nenninger, Trtanj win titles

By AL BARNES

Dan Nenninger of St. Ann, Mo., won the 22nd annual Granite City Invitational Tennis Tournament men's singles championship Sunday in a rain-delayed meet.

Nenninger won the crown when Bob Flinder, an attorney from Belleville, was forced to default after suffering a severe twisted ankle in his semi-final match Saturday with Granite City's Mal Morris. Flinder defeated Morris, 6-1, 6-7, 6-1, in one of the hardest fought matches of the three-day tourney. Nenninger turned back another Granite City player, Tom Boker, in straight sets, 6-4, 6-1, in the semis.

The women's singles crown was won by Granite City's own Merry Trtanj with a hard-fought victory over Lori Zupanci, 6-4, 6-1. Mrs. Trtanj posted a 6-3, 6-0 victory over Edwardsville's Carrie Hartnagel and won, by default, over Kelly Gasaway of Belleville. Miss Zupanci's first-round victory, a 6-3, 5-7, 6-3 decision over Laura Gabriel of Granite City was a nail-biter all the way. And, always in doubt, Miss Zupanci, of Edwardsville, had an easier time in her 6-2, 6-3 victory over Belleville's Janet Kammann.

Mike Barnes, tournament director and the only division champion to defend his crown, will meet Dr. Ed Dolsy of Granite City today at 5 p.m. at Wilson Park for the men's 35 and over championship. Dolsy advanced to his shot at the title with a 6-2, 6-1 victory over Paul Harshany and a bit-terly-fought 6-7, 6-0, 6-2 triumph over Alton's Darrell Eden. Barnes advanced with a 6-0, 6-1 victory over John Suarez and a one-and-one nod over Ron Szlagaly.

The rain and flooded courts Sunday at Wilson Park forced the delay of the boys 16 and under doubles championship match between the teams of Abilez-Kelley and Gassel-Molitor. In the same age for girls 16 and under Amy Buscher-Amy Smith will battle it out with their Belleville neighbors, Beth Stuckey and Janice McAtree.

Another rain victim was the championship clash for the boys 14 and under doubles team of Neal Hesseian-Paul Wanger and Ken Kirchoff-Rob Palmer. Since all four live in Belleville it is expected that they'll make arrangements to settle the matter there.

The girls 14 and under doubles duel for the event crown will be decided when the teams of Christy Helligenstein-Amy Johnson and Tiffany Rickett-Julie Helligenstein can get together on a dry court.

In the boys 16 and under single championship between Bob Molitor and John Aregood the rain forced a delay. They had hoped to find a court somewhere Sunday. Incidentally, this age group drew the largest entry, 16, in the entire tournament and also some of the toughest matches. Mark Szweczyk's 4-6, 6-3, 6-4 victory over Trevor Parker was an outstanding match.

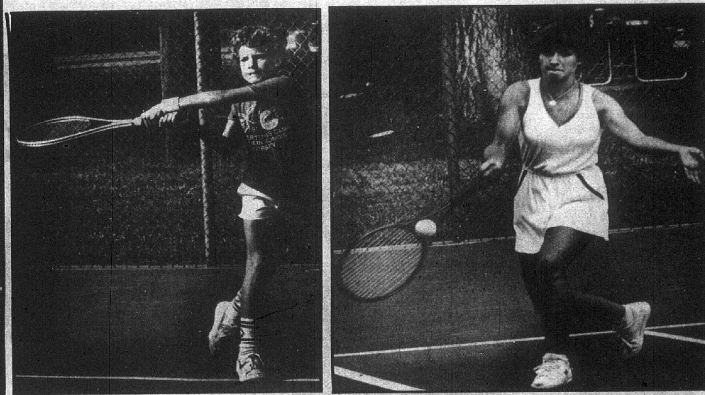

Probably the most promising match of the tourney was the championship clash between Ken Shaw of Edwardsville and Collinsville's John Quarengi in the Juniors (18 and under), won by Shaw, 4-6, 6-4, 7-5. In the girls 18 and under, Edwardsville's Lori Zupanci turned back Lori Cruz, in a bitterly fought match, 6-3, 6-4. Miss Cruz's hard-fought three-set victory, 2-6, 6-2, 7-6, victory over Laura Deffendall in the semis didn't help her in her match with Miss Zupanci.

The large draw in the 16 and under girls saw Shelley Piquard battle down to earn the right to play Meredith Heineman for the championship. Shelley won, 4-6, 6-2, 6-4.

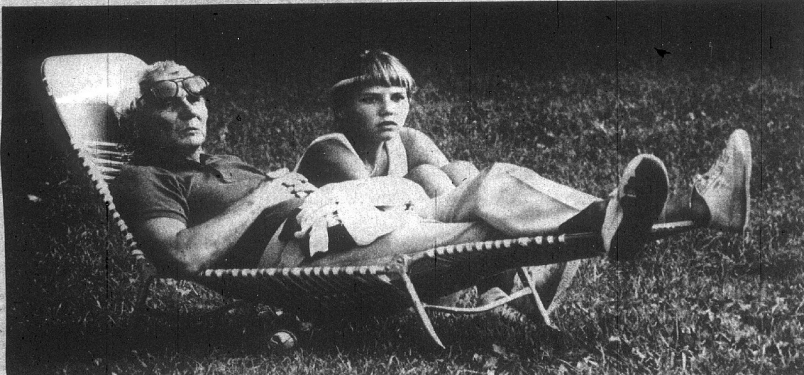

Robbie Lombardi, the crowd's favorite, and carrying Granite City hopes for another crown, will meet Marcelo Pizzimbono today for the championship in the boys 14 and under singles. Amy Johnson of High Plains won the girls 14 and under title by defeating Belleville's Christy Helligenstein, 1-6, 7-5, 6-4, in a grueling match which didn't end until after 11 p.m. Saturday night.

The Belleville duo—of Elenor Stachis-Sofia Telen won the girls 18 and under doubles by beating the Zupanci sisters of Edward-ville, two and two. Bob Meyers, women's tennis coach at Southern Illinois U.-Edwardsville and his partner, Jeff Duda, defeated John Quarengi and Charles Gaffner, 6-4, 6-4, for the men's doubles crown.

Carenza named to USSF Hall of Fame

Joe Carenza, a leading developer of soccer in the St. Louis area was one of three new members inducted into the United States Soccer Federation National Hall of Fame recently. Joining Carenza is John O. Best, a former USSF vice president and Lamar Hunt, a prime mover of professional soccer. The three men join 147 other Hall of Famers from previous years.

The USSF Hall of Fame Committee, comprised of six former Federation presidents, made final decisions from four new candidates nominated for 1982 and 25 nominees from previous years. The three inductees will be honored at the USSF's 66th Annual General Meeting in Dallas, Aug. 25-29, and presented official certificates and lifetime passes at the Hall of Fame luncheon Aug. 28.

"The three men selected this year certainly deserve the Hall of Fame honor," said Tom Sager, Chairman of the Hall of Fame Committee. "Each has served the game of soccer for many years and are excellent additions to the National Soccer Hall of Fame."

Best, who was nominated by the California Soccer Association-South, was the first FIFA referee ever appointed in the United States in addition to being a former USSF Vice President. He is currently Chairman of the USSF Rules and Revisions Committee.

Carenza, nominated posthumously by the Missouri Soccer Association, played an instrumental role in the development of soccer in the St. Louis area. He helped organize the CYO soccer program in St. Louis, which has produced many outstanding professional and college players, and was coach of the Kulis S.C. that won the 1957 U.S. National Open Cup.

Hunt, who has been a major factor in the development of professional soccer in the United States through his ownership of the Dallas Tornado and now the Tampa Bay Rowdies, was nominated by the North Texas Soccer Association. A well-known business and sportsman, Hunt was one of the original group of owners in the United Soccer Association in 1967, which later became the North American Soccer League.

The USSF Hall of Fame was originated by the Old Timers Association in 1950. There are two categories for Hall of Fame membership: playing achievement and administrative achievement. Candidates can be nominated for either or both categories and are made eligible for two Hall of Fame honors — the Hall of Fame Meritorious Service Award and the National Soccer Hall of Fame. It is entirely up to the discretion of the Hall of Fame Committee for final selections.

Sports of All Sorts

By AL BARNES

Well, it happened again. Rain and the consequent water covered courts at Wilson Park's tennis courts Sunday once more prevented the conclusion of the 22nd Annual Granite City Invitational Tennis Tournament Sunday.

Which reminds me: I've always said that if a drought is terrorizing a section of the land, there is one sure fire way to stop it; just schedule a tennis tournament.

The meet started off in very good order Friday under the direction of Mike Barnes and the pairings and matchups were played with some outstanding contests, but very few so-called upsets.

But, the rains came late Saturday and early Sunday morning flooding the courts.

What can we do about the delays caused by wet courts? And, concurrently, what other actions could be taken to assure that the Invitational improve and give our fair city an outstanding tennis tournament?

I do have a list of suggestions that I'd like the Park District consider to enhance the tournament.

And, here they are, but not necessarily in order of importance:

First, look into the possibility that the Ice Rink could be utilized as an indoor court "in the event of rain."

Second, the installation of a public address system at the courts in order to keep the players and fans acquainted with upcoming matches, et al. Third, a phone should be installed at the tournament headquarters tent. Fourth, transportation should be provided for players asked to play at the High School courts.

I would also strongly urge that an effort be made to find and display photos of former winners of the Invitational Tournament at the courts during the meet.

And, while we are talking about former tennis champs, would it be out of order for me to suggest that the Park District take the lead in establishing a Sports Hall of Fame for Granite City in all sports and build a place at Wilson Park where the public could view the exhibits.

Granite City, yes, the entire Quad-City area, has put together an outstanding record in all sports. A place like the Park, where the public could view the exhibits would add much to our community life.

Sports Briefs

Steeler soccer practice begins

The summer is nearly over, and with the waning days come the inevitable — soccer practice.

This Wednesday, Aug. 18, is the day Granite City High School North coach Bob Kehoe has set for the first practice. According to Kehoe, athletes should be on Granite City North's varsity soccer field at 8:30 Wednesday morning, for the first of North's scheduled two-day practices. The second practice is scheduled for later that evening at 6:30. Physical examinations and a written parental consent is required of each athlete before he will be permitted to practice.

Sophomores, junior and seniors may receive their physicals at Granite City North Tuesday, while incoming freshmen should have a complete physical examination by their family physician, Kehoe said.

North distance men drill set

Granite City High School North cross country coach Pete Robinson has scheduled a 9 a.m. practice for this Wednesday, Aug. 18. The morning practice will be the first of two practices that day. A second practice is for 4 p.m. Two-day practices will continue throughout the week.

Robinson, who went out of his way to welcome all incoming freshmen, said athletes should come "ready to run." Athletes wishing to participate should come complete with physical and a written parental consent.

South distance practice set

Granite City High School South Warrior cross country coach Rich Harmon is waiving little time in assembling his long distance runners for the coming season.

According to Illinois High School Association guidelines, no team may begin practice before Wednesday, Aug. 18. With that in mind, Harmon has called an 8 a.m. Wednesday meeting to begin training for their first competition Tuesday, Sept. 7. Athletes (and incoming freshmen are welcome) should meet at the gymnasium.

Tomorrow, Harmon plans to issue lockers to athletes those athletes.

Venice residents to hear about cable TV

Venice residents are being invited to hear a presentation by a cable television representative at 6 p.m. tomorrow, in the Venice City Hall council chambers.

Mayor Tyrone Echols extended the invitation to all residents interested in the community attaining cable TV service at Tuesday night's meeting of the City Council.

Expected to address the aldermen and residents is Doyle Dugan, a representative of CATV cable television, who has made a similar presentation before city officials at a previous meeting.

Mayor Echols reported earlier the rates proposed by Dugan, $14 or $15 per month, per subscriber, were the lowest quoted to the city.

He also noted the firm currently is installing service in the nearby community of Brooklyn.

"We hope everyone will come and hear the cable TV representative. I'm sure there are many questions people will want to ask," he added.

Blue Cross wants to limit some coverages to cut hospital stays

Blue Cross-Blue Shield of Illinois reports it is attempting to change its guidelines to pay for certain minor operations only if the patients don't stay in the hospital.

The insurer wants to pay the full cost of the operations only if the patient does not have an overnight stay in the hospital, but would pay nothing if the patient stays overnight without "medical necessity," if this proposal is approved.

Blue Cross-Blue Shield proposed to the Department of Insurance that it will pay for about 75 surgical procedures, such as vasectomies, breast and skin biopsies and some finger and foot surgery, if they are done on an outpatient basis.

An attorney for a public watchdog group charged that Blue Cross-Blue Shield has failed to hold the line on health care costs.

Phillip H. Snelling, attorney for a group of senior citizens called the Chicago Gray Panthers, said Blue Cross-Blue Shield payments for hospital rates increased more than 24 percent in 1981.

Blue Cross has enrolled 24 hospitals in a cost-containment plan in which the hospital pays bills that exceed the program guidelines after the first three months of treatment. If the hospital fails to fall within one percent of the guidelines during the first three months of treatment. The Michael Reese Hospital was enrolled in a cost-containment plan and that program saved policyholders $2 million. Blue Cross-Blue Shield insures about 3 million Illinois residents.

Kebley Company president, Thoms M. Garvin, has announced a voluntary sodium labeling program. The program, which was outlined in a letter to FDA Commissioner Arthur Hull Hayes Jr. will begin in late 1982. It includes all Kebley cookie, cracker, and snack products and is expected to be completed during 1983.

Need help for Venice Yule decorating fund

By VALERIE EVENDEN

An impassioned plea for public support for the Venice Christmas Decoration fund was made by Mrs. Gertrude Young, drive leader, at last week's meeting of the Venice City Council.

In an unusual turn of events, Mrs. Young's appeal was not made to the city fathers, as such, but to individuals in the council chambers and the community-at-large.

"I'm not here to ask the council for money, but I am asking you as citizens and individuals to give a donation so everyone in town will be proud of our city," she said.

"I want to see Venice on the map and I may die before Christmas, but I still want to see them (decorations) here."

Mrs. Young reported the money raised so far—amounting to $2,645—is not enough to pay for the decorations, which have been ordered and are expected to cost about $5,100.

She first approached the city council with the idea of purchasing holiday decorations for the community in March, stating at that time, and again last week, of driving from Granite City through Madison last Dec. 15 and enjoying "all the beautiful decorations and then coming over the viaduct to Venice and there was nothing."

"I asked about it and was told there wasn't any money. I know all cities are crying broke, but I had a dream to put on a program to raise some money and the council accepted the proposal for a fund-raising drive."

"I want you all to take a check to Roseann's office (Roseann Koelker, city controller) or we'll take it here tonight. Right now," she emphasized.

Mayor Tyrone Echols expressed appreciation to

Mrs. Young for her efforts on behalf of the community and gave her a personal donation of $100 for the fund.

Mrs. Young pointed out that donations of any amount will be appreciated, adding that anyone giving $100 to the drive in memory of a deceased relative or friend will have his or her name, along with the specified named person, inscribed on a large memorial plaque to be placed in the Venice City Hall.

Donations may be left at the city controller's office in city hall.

In other action, the council voted contributions of $350 each to the Madison-Venice Boys Club, a youth football group in which 13 Venice boys are members and are in need of equipment, and the African Cultural Group that performs at the West Madison Center and requires financial assistance to continue its program for area youth.

A musical segment in various time slots will be performed by the Blackwood Brothers, a gospel singing group; concerts by Calvary Chapel in Costa Mesa, Calif., as well as many country, folk and bluegrass musical programs.

Emilie Bishop will host a Craft Show and there will be programs on health and medical information, exercise demonstrations and athletic and game shows.

According to the station announcement, there has been $855,000 raised to date for the new facility and the remaining $195,000 is to be raised before Channel 24 goes on the air, Sept. 12. A $105,000 final payment on the transmitter and $90,000 on master control and power equipment is required, they added.

Low protein dishes may keep persons cooler

Those who find themselves irritable on a scorching summer day, can take a tip from a Southern Illinois University-Carbondale nutritionist who suggests a "cool" diet.

Frank Konishi, SIUC professor of food and nutrition, says much of the discomfort experienced during hot summer months may be caused by food. Certain foods, such as high protein dishes, he says, contribute to increased body heat while low calorie foods may cool a person down.

Healthy servings of high protein foods like beef, fish and chicken produce so-called "waste heat," said Konishi.

"It's a natural body process designed to burn off high calorie intake. But at the same time, it raises the body temperature and makes you feel warmer," he said.

To counteract the body's production of waste heat, Konishi suggests eating "cool" or low calorie foods like fresh garden vegetables and fruits when temperatures approach the oppressive 90- and 100-degree marks.

The high percentage of water in these foods also helps replace body fluids lost from perspiration, he said.

"Usually a person's appetite will decrease when it's hot," Konishi said. "When this happens, the body is protecting us from overheating."

you'll be," he said.

Eating plenty of citrus fruits, tomatoes and green vegetables helps replace the vitamin C lost through excessive perspiring.

But salt tablets are a no-no, Konishi said.

"It's a fallacy that we need to increase our salt intake when we sweat. The average American diet has more than enough salt as it is," he said.

food has little more than a placebo effect on how cool people feel, according to Konishi.

But to a large degree comfort is a state of mind, so if sucking on a popsicle or sipping an icy glass of lemonade makes a person feel cooler, they should go ahead and do it, advises Konishi.

Miss Grimm attends SIUC engineering seminar

Kimberly A. Grimm, 2300 Washington, was among top students from Southern Illinois high schools to get an early taste of college engineering classwork this summer at Southern Illinois University-Carbondale.

The 13 young women — sophomores and juniors in high schools south of Interstate 64 — spent five days July 12 to 16 in classrooms and laboratories at SIUC's College of Engineering and Technology, taking a first-hand look at what it's like to study engineering or mathematics as a college student.

"This is an untapped source of some really brilliant talent," said Echol (Bud) Cook, associate dean of the College of Engineering and Technology and coordinator of the Women's Introduction to Engineering program.

"Every one of these kids is bright enough to handle the work; in fact, most of them are in the top five percent or so of their high school classes."

"But very few had ever considered engineering as a career."

Cook said this summer's introductory program featured intensive doses of mathematics and engineering lectures backed by laboratory sessions taught by instructors from each of the college's departments. He said the program is designed to "walk a fine line" — demonstrating that engineering can be an interesting and satisfying career for women without scaring them away from the rigors of studying the subject.

"There isn't any question that these students can handle the work," he said. "They're all among the brightest of the bright, but we do want them to know that if this is what they decide to do, it's not going to be easy."

The week-long session was sponsored by the College of Engineering and Technology under the auspices of the national Accreditation Board for Engineering and Technology and the Junior Engineering Technical Society (a branch of the National Society of Professional Engineers).

Several companies that recruit engineering and technology students at SIUC donated funds to cover $140 scholarships for each of the students who took part.

Cook said that although he'd be "very pleased" if the preps decide to study engineering at SIUC, that's not really the point.

"We're trying to sell engineering as a career more than selling SIUC," he said. "We want to get to them early enough in high school so that they can still get in the mathematics they'll need if they decide to go into engineering."

STAGNER COMPLETES RECRUIT TRAINING

Navy Seaman Recruit Gerald D. Stagner, son of Judith R. Stagner of 2809 Iowa, has completed recruit training at the Naval Training Center, Navy Recruit Training Command, Great Lakes, Ill.

Included in the studies were seamanship, close order drill, Naval history and first aid. Personnel who complete this course of instruction are eligible for three hours of college credit in physical education and hygiene.

NEW EQUIPMENT. Mark Parson of Belleville, a student at Belleville Area College, checks data from the spectrophotometer, a new piece of chemistry equipment at the college.

BAC gets new equipment

A new piece of equipment added to the chemistry labs at Belleville Area College will increase the speed at which experiments can be performed.

The double-beam ultraviolet visible spectrophotometer uses a built-in microprocessor.

"The speed at which things can be done is a big advantage," D. C. Edwards, chemistry teacher at BAC, said.

Edwards explained that an entire class can have access to the equipment during a class period.

The spectrophotometer allows the operator to directly determine the absorbance or percent transmission of a solution or gas sample. It can also analyze the concentration of the absorbant.

The equipment is used in inorganic chemistry, organic chemistry and instrumental analysis classes.

Meeting Thursday on planning by seniors

A public meeting designed to better acquaint local residents with the realities of managing housing costs as the residents near their senior years will be hosted by Hospice Madison County Thursday evening at Niedringhaus Methodist Church, 2011 Street and Delmar Avenue.

The public seminar, entitled "Community Seminar: Finance Information Forum," will feature a panel of five local persons who are considered experts in the areas of financing, real estate and planning for the senior years.

Topics will include the effect of interest rates on selling a large home and purchasing a smaller home, the advantages of renting housing, why it is costly to sell a home and the advantages of having a will and an estate.

According to Rosemarie Lindner, director of public relations for Hospice, "The discussion begins at 6:30 p.m. Thursday at the church. Reservations are not required, but to assure sufficient seating and refreshments, persons planning to attend are being urged to contact Hospice at 798-3399."

"Sometimes it helps just to talk to someone. Everyone is feeling the financial crunch today, but the senior citizens and the people who find themselves alone are experiencing even more fears and expressing panic on many finance questions. This seminar was designed and planned to, hopefully, answer and discuss some of these questions."

The discussion begins at 6:30 p.m. Thursday at the church. Reservations are not required, but to assure sufficient seating and refreshments, persons planning to attend are being urged to contact Hospice at 798-3399.

MOTOR FUEL TAXES RECEIVED

Illinois municipalities have been allotted $10,524,697.00 as their share of motor fuel tax paid into the state treasury during July, according to the Illinois Department of Transportation.

Motor fuel tax funds are allocated monthly to the various municipalities in Illinois for their streets and highways. The monies allocated are computed on the basis of population. July allocations here were: Granite City, $40,475; Madison, $6,503; and Venice, $3,526.

VAN DAMAGED

A 6-year old boy allegedly took a rock and scratched the left side door and front fender and cut circles in the paint of a van owned by Jerry Fickinger while it was parked at 2804 W. 28th St. It was reported at 3:30 p.m. Thursday.

Parents of the youngster, who were visiting in the area, agreed to pay for the damages, according to police reports.

Registrations for BAC medical programs

Applications are still being taken for the medical assistant and the medical records programs at Belleville Area College for the fall 1982 semester.

The medical assistant field provides the opportunity to work with people and a chance to perform both clerical and laboratory work, according to Rose Hall, coordinator for the program at BAC.

"Medical assistants learn a combination of administrative, clerical skills," Hall said. "The primary focus is assisting a doctor in his practice."

A medical assistant performs office duties such as preparing medical records, bookkeeping and transcribing. In the clinical area, medical assistants duties can include preparing patients for exams, giving basic eye, blood and urine tests or assisting the doctor with special procedures.

BAC has the only medical assistant program in Southern Illinois accredited by the national organization, the American Association of Medical Assistants. Accredited by the AAMA and the American Medical Association through the Council on Allied Health Education and Accreditation, it is one of only two such accredited programs in the St. Louis area.

In addition, BAC's medical assistant program is unique in that it offers a two-year certificate, to give students the basic entry level skills; and a two-year associate of applied science degree, which prepares students for the potential of management positions. Other programs in the state system offer only the two-year degree.

Those interested in the BAC medical assistant program should contact Rose Hall, 1235-2700, extension 355 or Celeste Zalecki, extension 203.

Pam Daniel, coordinator for the medical records program, said that there is a rapidly increasing demand for medical records technicians.

"There is a nationwide shortage of qualified people," she said. "I have been unable to fill the hospitals' needs."

She believes the shortage stems from a "vast misconception" of what the field involves.

"This is a professional position for which a two-year degree is required," she explained. "It is a field for career-minded people."

The medical records technician is trained to organize and manage health information. Their duties can include organizing, analyzing, abstracting and evaluating health records according to established standards; storage and retrieval systems; and coordinating medical record personnel.

Medical records departments can work in health care facilities such as hospitals, nursing homes, ambulatory care clinics, hospices or psychiatric facilities. The growing number and types of health facilities are another factor increasing the availability of jobs in the field.

Opportunities also exist at large insurance companies, in industry and in law offices. Graduates of the program also may work as sales representatives for companies selling computer programs for health data processing.

Duties of the medical records technician vary from facility to facility. They can be employed in or supervise the medical records department of a hospital. Other specialties may include work as a cancer registrar, a medical care evaluation coordinator, an outpatient supervisor, quality assurance coordinator or data analysis technician.

Beginning yearly salaries for medical records technicians range from $12,000 to $13,000. Professionals earn up to and over $20,000 annually depending on the size of the institution where they are employed.

BAC is the only Illinois community college outside of the Chicago area that offers the associate degree. The degree can be transferred into most four-year programs.

Those interested may call Pam Daniel, 235-2700, extension 385.

GC serviceman in global exercise

Captain Arvil V. Taylor Jr., son of Irene I. Taylor of Rural Route 2, Granite City, has participated in an Air Force Strategic Air Command (SAC) exercise called Global Shield 82.

Taylor, a strategic bomber pilot with the 96th Bombardment Wing at Dyess Air Force Base, Texas, joined others from all SAC units in the United States and participated in the Strategic Air Command and Air National Guard units to take part in command post and field training exercises. Global Shield 82 was the fourth such exercise held by the command in as many years. It was designed to enhance readiness and the ability of the command to carry out orders which support U.S. national policy, should deterrence fail.

Components of the U.S. Navy and Marine Corps, as well as elements of the Canadian forces, also participated in the exercise.

His wife, Sharon, is the daughter of Charles and Hildred Koch of 1609 Pontoon Road.

Dirt removal request to go before county board

The Madison County Board Wednesday morning will consider a request by William Nichols for a special use permit to utilize 100 acres southwest of Horseshoe Lake to remove soil and create a catfish breeding facility.

The county's Zoning Board of Appeals held a hearing on the site and heard objections from three persons. It then recommended that the request be denied.

The county board decided at its July meeting to hold the request for consideration this month. Officially, Nichols request is for a special use permit to utilize about 100 acres for surface mining of topsoil. Nichols said there was no zoning category for fish breeding ponds, so he had to request a permit for mining. He hopes to sell the dirt to the Milan East landfill and has offered to build an engineer's bridge from his property over a canal to the landfill so trucks will not use township roads to move the dirt.

He also pledged that he will not allow the landfill to expand onto the property and has signed documents to that effect. He said he plans to reside there and would like to have ponds near his home.

Nameoki Township Highway Commissioner Frank Mohlele was among those who spoke against Nichols' request at the on-site zoning hearing.

The property is south of Bend Road and east of Route 203. It is zoned M-2 for general manufacturing purposes. The county board will be asked Wednesday to approve two other Quad-City area zoning requests. The zoning board has endorsed a request from Vanetta Leimkuhler, 3606 Ruth Drive, for a variance to construct a carport addition onto her home within 2 1/2 feet from the side property line. The property is zoned R-3 for single-family residential use and is in Nameoki Township.

Also endorsed by the zoning board is a request from Frances R. Dolby and Alma E. Fletcher for a special use permit to place a mobile home next to 4149 Division St., in an R-3 portion of Nameoki Township. The zoning board recommends that the special use permit be granted for the sale use of Alma or Jesse Fletcher for their lifetimes.

The county board will meet at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday in the board room in the basement of the Madison County Courthouse in Edwardsville.

Applications being taken for leader scholarships

High school seniors from across the nation are being invited to compete this fall for more than $200,000 in scholarships being awarded by the Century III Leaders program. Applications, which must be completed by Oct. 15, may be obtained through local high school principals' offices.

Sponsored by the National Association of Secondary School Principals, which represents more than 35,000 secondary school administrators, the Century III Leaders program is designed to encourage today's young people to think not only about the problems they will face as adults but also how those problems should be handled.

Students are judged on their leadership abilities, school and community involvement and awareness of current events.

To enter the Century III Leaders competition, a high school senior must obtain an application from his principal when classes resume this fall. All high schools are mailed entry kits early in September. After completing the application and preparing a "Protection for Innovative Leadership" on a particular challenge facing the nation in its third century, each applicant will take a current events exam on Oct. 15.

The selection process begins at the local high school level in each state and the District of Columbia. School winners advance to the state level where the top contenders are interviewed by a selection committee and two winners (and two runners-up) are named in each state. The winners each get $1,500 scholarships and all-expense-paid trips to the national Century III Leaders conference each spring in Colonial Williamsburg, Va., where additional scholarships are awarded, including a $10,000 top prize. Runners-up at the state level each receive $500 scholarships. While in Williamsburg, Century III Leaders hear noted national speakers and participate in seminars and discussion groups. They also develop recommendations on specific problems which are forwarded to the White House.

"As I think it is for most people, the high prices of education demands that most of us seek other sources of funds," explains Kurt Rohrbach of Indiana, a finalist last year. "I applied (to Century III Leaders) for the money, but now I know it was worth a lot more than $1,500."

All state finalists and runners-up become members of the Century III Leaders Alumni program. In addition to receiving a newsletter, alumni may apply for grants of up to $5,000 (beginning in their senior year of college) for post-graduate studies or to support research in a public service agency. As many as six alumni grants are awarded each year.

Funding for the Century III Leaders program is provided by Shell Oil Company, which has supported the program since 1976 when it was called "Bicentennial Seniors." The Century III Leaders program is an outgrowth of that Bicentennial project. Additional information is available by writing: Century III Leaders, Box 28008, Washington, D.C. 20033.

Two injured at Nameoki-Madison

Injured Thursday in an accident at Nameoki Road and Madison Avenue were two drivers, Dwight E. Kutz, 30, of 4002 Wabash Ave., and Christina M. Curtis, 24, of 305 Wilson Park Lane. Both were taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

When the collision occurred, according to a police report, Kutz was turning left onto Nameoki from Madison. Mrs. Curtis, who was driving south on Nameoki, was ticketed for a stop light violation.

Beginning yearly salaries for medical records technicians range from $12,000 to $13,000. Professionals earn up to and over $20,000 annually depending on the size of the institution where they are employed.

Symphony audition

Auditions will be held on Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 18 and 19, at Powell Symphony Hall, Grand and Delmar, for positions in all sections (except clarinet) of the Saint Louis Symphony Youth Orchestra for the upcoming 1982-83 season.

All St. Louis area students ages 12 to 21-years-old who participate in their school music programs are eligible to enter the orchestra auditions. Applications may be obtained by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Youth Orchestra Manager Edith Hougland, 7150 Wise Avenue, St. Louis, Mo. 63117. Time schedules will be mailed to all applicants one week prior to the auditions.

Sponsored by the Women's Association of the Saint

Louis Symphony Orchestra, the 100-plus member Youth Orchestra has earned high marks from both local and national critics and was the first American Youth Orchestra to be selected as resident orchestra at the Fifth Annual International Youth and Music Festival held in Austria and Switzerland in 1976.

The orchestra also was selected to be the "host orchestra" of the 1979 International Festival of Youth Orchestras and Performing Arts in Aberdeen, Scotland. Each year the ensemble gives three concerts in Powell Symphony Hall.

MAN ARRESTED WITH FOR POSSESSION

While investigating a burglary report at the home of Florenda Brown, of the 300 block of West Third St., Madison police observed a bulge in the right sock of Keith King, who was in the vicinity of the residence.

When officers requested him to remove the object from his sock, King produced a cigarette pack containing three pink pills. He was arrested and charged with illegal possession of a controlled substance.

42 GC DEATHS

DURING JULY
City Clerk Robert Stevens reported that 42 deaths and one fetal death were recorded in Granite City during July.

During that same period, 57 births were registered.

Eyes up! when you work near power lines

Overhead power lines carry a lot of electric current. When you're working or playing outdoors, the first safety rule is "Eyes up!" If there's a power line around, treat it with respect. A metal ladder, a metal pole, a grain auger or a tree trimmer can become a conductor when they touch a power line. If you're on the other end, the consequences could be serious, possibly fatal.

For the same reasons, don't fly kites or model planes near power lines. And please note this: almost any object—wood, plastic or rubber—can become a conductor when it's wet. For outdoor safety it's "eyes up" when there's a power line nearby.

Discounts on dental care offered needy

The Illinois State Dental Society has established a reduced-fee comprehensive dental care program for the needy citizens of Illinois. "Total-Dent" has been created to assist low-income individuals in obtaining quality, thorough dental care.

Total-Dent is a continuation of the existing program, "Senior-Dent," which was established in 1981 for persons more than 65 years of age. The age requirement has been dropped for the new program in an effort to make sure all citizens who meet the income requirements can receive adequate dental care.

"The dentists of Illinois realize the economy has made it difficult to set a high priority for dental care," said Robert Rechner, executive director of the Illinois State Dental Society. "This program was designed to help those individuals who have not been able to visit the dentist regularly because of income restrictions."

Participants in the program will receive dental care at a minimum discount of 20 percent of the normal, usual fee.

In order to qualify for participation in the Total-Dent program, a person must earn less than $7,000 if single; earn less than $10,000 if married, and not be eligible for Medicaid or other dental insurance coverage.

By calling the Total-Dent toll-free number, 1-800-252-2290, qualified persons will be referred to a participating Total-Dent dentist.

BAC welding course offered

Belleville Area College will be offering a course to prepare students studying welding or those presently working as welding inspectors for the American Welding Society Inspector Qualification and Certification.

The course will prepare students for possible employment or help them gain employment. An inspector's duties and responsibilities as they apply for certification will be reviewed. The class will be taught on the AWS D 1.1-81 Structural Welding Code.

Steel by D. L. Davis, supervisor of Quality Assurance for Combustion Engineering's St. Louis plant. The class will meet from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturdays, beginning Aug. 28 for 10 weeks, and will end approximately one week before the certification test is given in this area.

For information, call Garner Kimbrell, coordinator of the welding program, 235-2700, extension 252.

Q. The Social Security program was established during a severe depression when the cost of living was very low. Since many people had not other retirement income possibilities at that time it is anticipated that they (they) would be able to get along only on their Social Security benefits?

A. No. Social Security was, and still is, looked upon as partial replacement of income that is lost due to retirement, death or disability. It is assumed that other income such as pensions, dividends, interest, etc. will supplement Social Security. Why are they still plagued to meet basic retirement needs.

Q. Last August, while on a trip, my ears became plugged. I have been unable to do during an altitude change. The problem is they have never opened. Why are they still plugged and what can I do to unplug them? — F.H., Santa Rosa, Calif.

A. The above is an extremely common problem, one which many patients and physicians struggle with. When you change altitude, the pressure of the atmosphere changes, decreasing as you ascend and increasing as you descend. This kind of barometric or atmospheric pressure change is even more prominent for underwater divers.

The middle ear is filled with air. You can think of it as a bubble of air connected to the outside by a very small tube called the eustachian tube. The eustachian tube connects the middle ear with the back of the nose. When you change altitude, and therefore change the pressure in the atmosphere, the pressure in the middle ear. This can only occur by air going in or out through the eustachian tube. The eustachian tube is extremely delicate and it is very common during rapid changes in pressure for the eustachian tube not to function correctly. When this occurs, you immediately notice a feeling of fullness in your ear, often described as the ear being plugged. There is usually a decrease in hearing in one or both and sometimes pain. Children particularly will complain of a very uncomfortable feeling.

Normally, when this occurs, it will correct itself over several days to several weeks. If it does not, you should take an antihistamine decongestant for two weeks. If this does not relieve the problem, you should make an appointment to see an ear surgeon. Ear surgeons go by several names: otolaryngologists, ear, nose and throat doctors, and otologists. This physician will evaluate the problem, examine the back of the nose to make sure there are no inherent anatomical problems and will most likely begin treatment with variety of medicines. If this fails, the pressure problem can be relieved by making a small hole in the eardrum to allow the middle ear pressure to equilibrate with the outside pressure.

With this variety, is what can you do to prevent this from occurring? Obviously,

Q. Is it true that people new receiving Social Security benefits are getting back four or five times more than they contributed? —D.D.

A. That's very true. In some cases, the return to beneficiaries is even greater. One example is people who paid maximum Social Security taxes starting in 1937 and including 1987 would have paid $14,768.65. If that person retired at age 65 in January 1987, (s/he) would receive their contribution back in less than 18 months.

Males reaching the age of 65 have an average of 14 years longer and females 18 years longer.

Program to provide jobs

A $100 million economic development program for the State of Illinois that will immediately finance 27 new commercial and industrial construction projects, and create about 9,000 new jobs, was announced last week by State Treasurer Jerry Costantino and Governor James Thompson.

"This isn't the first time that Treasurer Costantino and I have worked together to help improve the building climate in Illinois," the Governor said. "Our bipartisan cooperation to launch a program like this one, aimed at boosting the business and commercial construction industry in Illinois, is another example of what Illinois can do for business."

"This program gets us off to a good start," said Costantino. "If we're going to get back on our feet soon, it's imperative that business, labor and government work together to bring new jobs to Illinois. This program continues our policy of using investments as a stimulant for local economic growth and job expansion."

Costantino and Thompson made their announcement with several leading bankers, labor officials and business executives at Plumbers Hall in Chicago.

and later at the Illinois State Fair in Springfield. They said that the program will be funded by construction loans financed through a state purchase of securities from the American National Bank and Trust Company of Chicago. The state will earn a fixed interest rate of 12 percent for seven years.

The Governor and the Treasurer said a consortium of Illinois businesses was assembled under the direction of consultants Ellen Barnes and Associates to draft the program.

Credit worthiness, geographical distribution and the past records of project developers were the primary criteria in determining which of 400 possible sites would be chosen. The 27 projects were selected by a group of program consultants, mortgage bankers and real estate experts.

The program will be run in three separate sections, Thompson and Costantino said. The first, called the state investment stage, involves the sale of $100 million in seven-year securities to the state at 12 percent interest. The proceeds of that sale will be placed in a trust fund. The trustee of the account will be authorized to invest the funds until construction loans are authorized. All earnings from any investments will go to the state.

During the second phase of the program, or the construction stage, American National Bank and Trust Company of Chicago will make the loans to project developers after receiving commitments for mortgage insurance from the Commercial Loan Insurance Corporation, a subsidiary of Mortgage Guaranty Insurance Corporation, the nation's largest mortgage insurer.

As each loan is transacted, the bank will forward its note to the trustee who will then release the funds to finance the loan. Interest rates paid by borrowers for construction loans will be 17 percent.

In the third, or post construction phase, of the program, American National Bank will sell each construction loan to the trustee. The bank will cancel all outstanding bank notes. The mortgage insurance will be issued to the trustee.

The bank will then appoint an agent to service the loans, which will be converted to 12 percent mortgages, and collect payments of the principal and interest, which will be used to repay the state.

LOST AND FOUND, a program of Hospice of Madison County, is a support group for widowed persons in this area which will present an informational forum, aimed at survivors of Hospice patients, on Thursday, Aug. 19, at 6:30 p.m. The forum will be at Niedringhaus Methodist Church, 20th Street and Delmar Avenue, and is open to the public. A panel of five local business people will discuss various topics

Burris says General Fund balance drops to third lowest in 20 years

The available balance in the General Funds on July 31 was $105 million, the third lowest end-of-July balance in the last 20 years, Comptroller Roland W. Burris has reported.

Burris said the balance drop was the result of a slight drop in General Funds revenues, increased lapse period spending, and the impact of split-July school aid payments in which $326 million in payments were delayed until the new fiscal year which began July 1.

(The lowest end-of-July balance in the last two decades was $58 million at the end of July 1962 followed by $104 million on July 31, 1976.)

Burris said that total General Funds revenues last month (July) were $604 million, $5 million or 0.8 percent less than one year ago, with decreases of $9 million (4.9 percent) in income tax receipts, an $8 million drop (3.8 percent) in sales tax revenue, and other declines in investment income, inheritance taxes and cigarette taxes.

Total expenditures from the General Funds last month were $686 million, $140 million or 25.6 percent higher than July of 1981, led by the $126 million delayed school aid payment and lapse period spending increases in higher education operations, public aid, and refunds.

Total lapse period spending in July 1982 (charged to last year's appropriations) was $352 million, $184 million higher than the same month one year ago.

Truck damages school fencing

Between 170 and 200 feet of cyclone fencing, formerly installed along the access road at the Madison Middle School, was torn down by a large truck, which left the scene, it was reported at 8:30 p.m. Saturday.

Police learned a long white refrigerated-type truck with red lettering traveling south on 13th Street and turning left on Carr Street had backed up and hit the fence, catching part of the heavy metal fence on the vehicle's right rear.

A witness to the incident told police the driver got out of the vehicle, unhooked the fence from the truck and drove away, leaving the part of the fencing and poles in the roadway.

Preparing for school? Immunize

By MARY RICHARDS

Illinois Department of Public Health

School bells will soon be ringing. Parents and children will be back in school and there shopping for clothes, shoes, theme paper, pencils and all the other paraphernalia associated with school days.

In the rush to accumulate everything needed to get their children back in school, parents should not overlook the physical preparations that may be more important to a child's well-being than loose-leaf paper and ballpoint pens.

The most obvious, of course, is to be sure children have all the required immunizations. The Illinois School Code states that any child entering an Illinois school must have been immunized for the following diseases — diphtheria, tetanus, whooping cough, polio, measles and rubella. Mass immunization is recommended but not required.

A school district is penalized unless at least 90 percent of the students are fully immunized. A percentage of their state funding is withheld each month until the school district comes into compliance with the code.

So, if a child does not have the necessary immunizations, he or she may be excluded from school. The only exceptions are instances where immunizations are prohibited as a result of religious beliefs or for medical reasons. If a written statement is provided by the parent detailing the religious objection, immunization will not be required. A statement from a physician is required for medical exemption to the requirements.

Since these two groups represent only a small percentage of the population, if all the other students are fully immunized, there will not be epidemics of these diseases.

A child is considered fully immunized if he or she has had five DPT shots — four doses of oral polio vaccine — one measles immunization — and one rubella vaccination at the prescribed times. DPT stands for diphtheria, pertussis (the medical term for whooping cough), and tetanus.

Ideally, the process should begin when the child is two months old, and be completed by the time he is ready to enter school. Unfortunately, though, some parents put off their children's immunizations until the child is ready to start school.

There are a number of possible reasons why immunizations are postponed. For example, today's young parents don't remember the polio epidemics of the forties and fifties so they don't fully appreciate the importance of immunizing a child against polio.

Sometimes, immunizations are neglected because it is difficult to get to the doctor's office or the local health department. Lack of money is sometimes a reason for not having a child immunized. But it needn't be. Local health departments, county nurses and visiting nurse associations give immunizations either free of charge or at a minimal cost.

Those living in an area where these services aren't provided, who cannot afford to go to a physician, should write or call the Illinois Department of Public Health, Immunization Program, 535 West Jefferson Street, Springfield, Ill. 62761, and arrangements will be made to have children immunized.

and has been a disc jockey for East St. Louis and St. Louis radio stations.

The 18-piece Big Band Machine will play "Song of Indiana" and "Two o'clock Jump," along with a wide variety of tunes.

Funzwezi will be featured in a special vibraphone section and he will play "Maria," "Here's That Rainy Day" and "All of Me." Vocalist Cheryl Thomason will sing "Meditation."

The concert is free and open to the public. The park district will provide seating or persons attending may bring their own lawn chairs.

Final Big Band concert Tuesday

The fifth and final performance in the Big Band Concert Series will be 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. tomorrow in Wilson Park near 27th Street. The concert features Stan Fornazewski and his Big Band Machine.

Charlie Meneses from KMOX's "Jazz Under the Arch" program (aired on Saturday night) will attend the concert. Meneses has had an obsession with jazz big band music for many years. He has interviewed famous big band musicians

Hollywood Strip

Eva Marie not resting on merits

By ALAN L. GANSBERG

HOLLYWOOD — After working selectively for many years so she could raise her two children, EVA MARIE SAINT is ready to work and eager to work — and more than willing to tackle television. Viewers will be able to see the award-winning star on a special episode of "The Love Boat" that takes place in Greece. Saint portrays a Greek woman who owns a small fleet of fishing boats, but has nonetheless managed to put her American nephew through exclusive schools. When the nephew — PARKER STEVENSON — comes for a visit, he is agast to find out that she is just common folk.

The sweet byproduct of spending several weeks in Greece was being able to pal around with the other actors. Saint began her career in New York, and fondly remembers the interaction and camaraderie actors had there. In Hollywood, actors find themselves socializing with writers, directors, producers — but not congregating together.

Not one to rest on her laurels, she is also taking a script interpretation class with the famous STELLA ADLER. After many years of working at her craft, Saint finds such an endeavor not only exciting, but inspiring, as if she is learning anew how to approach a play.

There have been changes in her private life as well. Saint and her husband have sold their home and moved into an apartment, and she finds the adjustment hasn't been all that difficult.

They try to keep show business out of their home as much as possible. The walls are more likely to be filled with what she describes as "a modest art collection." Her own Academy Award, won for "On the Waterfront," sits on a breakfront in her walk-in closet.

When not working, Saint is an avid reader, and is someone who actually delights in writing letters. She also enjoys taking a nice long stroll.

"I can't remember finishing something and knowing what I was going on to next," she said. "I'd like to work more now since my children are up and out. Television is fine. I've been working in it since the early years."

Some of Saint's most famous work came on the Alfred Hitchcock classic, "North by Northwest." Another Hitchcock classic, "Psycho," will have a sequel, despite the fact that the master is deceased. So far the working title is "Psycho II," but the story is being kept hush-hush — for now.

The life of ANWAR SADAT, late president of Egypt, will be brought to the small screen via Operation Prime Time, the syndicated service of member stations across the country. No casting has been set, but it is possible the four-hour show will air in 1983.

"Cathy," the comic strip created and drawn by

Cathy Guisewhite, will be brought to CBS as a potential series by JERRY PARIS, the actor-turned-director who has guided "Happy Days" through nine seasons, and JOHNNY CARSON's production company.

There are also plans to try to adapt "The Green Hornet" for television once more. Trivia nuts will recall that "Hornet" was an ABC series in 1966 starring VAN WILLIAMS and the now cult-figure, BRUCE LEE. There are no details as to how the producer plans to get the "Hornet" back in the sting just yet.

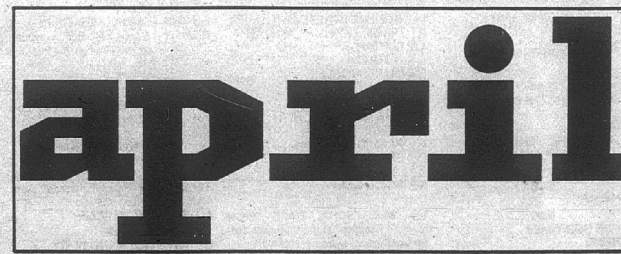

NBC has chosen Jan. 31-Feb. 4, 1983, as the rerun dates for "Shogun," the mini-series which first aired in 1980. Plans were reported to include subtitles for this airing.

DEE WALLACE, riding the crest of applause for her performance as the mother in "E.T. — The Extraterrestrial," has signed to co-star with SUSAN SAINT JAMES in "Surprise, Surprise." As a footnote, some sequences of the CBS-TV movie were shot at the estate of silent screen funnyman HAROLD LLOYD.

ROBERT CLARY, who is known to daytime TV viewers as a staple of NBC's "Days of Our Lives," is taking a hiatus from the soaps to co-star in "Remembrance of Love," an NBC-TV movie about survivors of the Holocaust. It is especially dear to Robert — he is a survivor of Buchenwald.

Supergirl set for takeoff

By JACK MARTIN

HOLLYWOOD — Yes, Virginia, there definitely will be a "Superman IV."

And after that "Supergirl" is all set to zoom out of the comic strips and onto the screen as the "star" of a projected $30 million film. She will be a cousin to the immortal man of Krypton, whose two cinema adventures have just been sold to television for nearly $15 million.

Producers Alexander and Ilya Salkind have not yet cast "Supergirl" for the movie, which will go into production in England late next year where, right this minute, Christopher Reeve is busy flying across the sound stages in "Superman III."

Reeve, by the way, says he will not appear in the fourth version of the successful series (as has been reported) but my spies in London tell me that "if the price is right" he will stick around for another (and definitely last) go-around. "Supergirl" will be introduced in "Superman III" and will play an even bigger role in "Superman IV" — and then she will have her own movie.

The executive producer, Timothy Burrill, says he's looking for a blonde, blue-eyed actress with a perfect body to play the role and that she will probably be a newcomer, as Superman Chris Reeve was. And if the lady is as big as Superman at the box office, the producers have yet another character to spring upon the public — Superdog! Yep, a canine "dog of steel" will be introduced in "Supergirl." Will it never end? No, it won't as long as the kiddies line up at theaters around the world.

BABY DOLL WANTS BABY: Pia Zadora, Hollywood's latest blonde bombshell has revealed her secret ambition.

She wants a baby and says, "I want one immediately — if not sooner." Baby-faced Pia, set to
